Truman Opens Fire On Three GOP Senators

Lashes McCarthy, Jenner And Kem

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—President Truman said today he doesn't see how Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower can be elected "with the crew he has got around him" and its "terrible record."

Singling out three new Republican targets in his coast-to-coast whistle stop tour, Truman named Sens. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin; William Jenner of Indiana, and James P. Kem of Missouri, as men who have taken over the GOP presidential nominee.

The President also renewed his attack on Ohio's Sen. Robert A. Taft in a rear platform address at Hesper, Utah, as his "give-em-hell" special headed into Colorado on the back-east phase of a 8,500 mile tour.

GOV. "Needs Helper Engines"

Earlier, in a formal address at Provo, Utah, Truman charged the Republicans have failed to hide a 20-year record of obstruction and isolationism behind "the shining armor of a national hero"—Eisenhower.

He told an open air crowd that "the new disguise wears mighty thin," revealing behind a new candidate the same old party "without faith, without vision, without strategy."

Then at Hesper Truman named more names.

"They tell me," he told a train-side crowd, "Helper was named for the helper engines that pulled the train up these wonderful mountains you have around here."

"You know, I think the Republican Party needs some helper engines. It would take a whole round-house full of these helper engines to get them elected this fall, with their terrible record holding them back."

"Synthetic Truth" Unit
"As for their candidate for President, I don't think helper engines can get him out of the trouble he is in now. With the crew he has got around him I don't think he will ever be elected. I just don't think the people are going to elect a President who has surrendered to Taft and McCarthy and Jenner and Kem."

Truman has charged throughout this campaign tour for Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic presidential nominee, that Eisenhower has made an "abject surrender" to Taft and the "old guard isolationists" in the Republican Party.

But he hasn't referred by name to McCarthy, Jenner or Kem since he started whistle-stopping, except for a casual crack at Jenner in answer to a call from a spectator on the first day of the trip, a week ago yesterday.

At Grand Junction, Colo., Truman made his first reference to the GOP "truth squad," calling it a "synthetic truth" unit.

Guided Missile Units Organized

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Army today announced it is forming antiaircraft battalions armed with guided missiles.

The new units, which are expected to be ready next year, will be equipped with the "Nike" missile which the Army says is able to track down and destroy an airplane 10 miles away at an altitude of more than six miles.

The Army said that organization of the missile battalions was justified by the success in producing and testing missiles. Army officials recently revealed that missiles were ready to be turned out on a production line basis.

Training of officers and men for the "Nike" battalions already is under way at the guided missile center, Fort Bliss, Tex., and at the White Sands, N. M., proving ground.

An intensive study also is underway to determine which areas of the country eventually will be defended by the guided missile units.

Montgomery Urges 'Cold War Command'

LONDON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Field Marshal Lord Montgomery called today for a supreme command to shape and run Allied policies in the cold war against communism.

The deputy supreme commander of the Allied Powers in Europe also suggested the non-Communist nations of the world should consider now how "to handle the direct" a possible global shooting war against the Russian-led bloc.

Montgomery told a news conference sponsored by the Royal Institute of International Affairs that the world already is "at war — the cold war."

Young Mother "Thrilled To Death"

Mrs. Richard Smith smiles happily as she holds the hand of her three-year-old son Gary, who can hear and speak now after being in a coma since last August 7. The reunion took place yesterday in a Springfield, Vt., convalescent hospital. Gary was found in a discarded ice box last August, his pet kitten clasped in his arms. The kitten suffered no ill effects but Gary had been in a deep coma until Sunday when he spoke to his father. He still is in a light coma.

Reds' Violence Tactics Failure, Acheson Says

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 6 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said today that Communist tactics of violence have failed and that the Reds are searching "for new ways of gaining their ends."

Acheson told 700 delegates attending the CIO International Electrical Workers' fourth annual convention that President Truman is "the man who has done most to stiffen the backbone of the free world against communism."

The secretary said Truman "has been unmoved by those who were ready to throw off restraint and plunge into ever-widening warfare" and "by others who would have held back the building of strength of collective security against the Communist challenge."

Ignores Doctor's Orders

Acheson, suffering from a virus infection, flew here today to talk to the IUE despite a doctor's orders. "I decided I wasn't going to let any little bug get me down," he quipped.

His address, delivered in a husky voice, drew loud applause at two points—once, when he paid tribute to President Truman, and again when he declared that in our peace talks in Korea—

"We will not compromise with the basic principle that no prisoner shall be forced against his will to return to the Communists."

Acheson Voices Warning

Reviewing Communist setbacks in France, Japan and Western Germany, Acheson said:

"The failure of previous Communist tactics in several parts of the world is leading the Communists to search for new ways of gaining their ends."

Acheson warned "we must not confuse a shift in method with a change in underlying purpose" and explained:

"The international Communist movement has been through many shifts in method, without the slightest change in its fundamentally hostile purpose against the rest of the world."

33 Jets Fly To Hawaii

HONOLULU, Oct. 6 (AP)—Thirty-three Republic F-84G Thunderjets flew from California to Hawaii today, ending the first leg of history's second mass jet flight across the Pacific.

They were supported by an undisciplined number of giant B-36 bombers and KB-29 aerial tankers.

Navy Contract For All-Jet Seaplane Given Martin Co.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—A contract to build the nation's first all-jet seaplane was awarded by the Navy today.

The contract went to the Glenn L. Martin Co. of Baltimore on the basis of its winning design in a Navy-sponsored competition.

The Navy withheld details on design and planned performance for reasons of military security.

Its brief announcement said only that the seaplane will be called the model 275 Seamaster and will be "radically different in concept

Doctor Whose Sex Changed Will Wed His Housekeeper

ABERDEEN, Scotland, Oct. 6 (AP)—Dr. Ewan Forbes-Sempill, whose change of sex from female to male was announced last month, posted official notice in his parish church yesterday that he will marry his housekeeper, Miss Isobel Mitchell.

The 40-year-old doctor's intention to wed was announced in Kildrumny parish church by the Rev. Peter J. MacEwen. The announcement is a formality required for all church weddings. The date of the wedding was not specified.

The doctor used to be known as Elizabeth Forbes-Sempill. On Sept. 12 a newspaper advertisement announced that she was now a male and would be known now as Ewan instead of Elizabeth.

Kennan Denies Making Remarks Charged By Reds

BONN, Germany, Oct. 6 (AP)—George F. Kennan, ousted American ambassador to the Soviet Union, denied tonight remarks attributed to him by the Communist press.

A correspondent of the London Daily Worker had written that Kennan said in Moscow at a celebration of victory in Europe on May 9, 1945 that "they (the Russians) think the war has ended, but it has only begun."

The allegation that he made the remarks was recently reprinted by the Moscow newspaper Pravda. It cited the quotation in attempting to depict Kennan as "hostile to the Soviet Union."

The ambassador branded the allegation as a "characteristic example of Communist press distortion."

The Soviet government demanded Kennan's recall last Friday. It said he was no longer welcome there because he had made "slandorous attacks" on the Soviet Union.

The Kremlin objected to a statement the ambassador made to newsmen in Berlin September 19. At that time Kennan compared life for Americans in Moscow to that he underwent as a diplomat in a Nazi internment camp.

Elevator Strike Ends

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (INS)—A compromise agreement today ended the five-day strike of Chicago elevator operators and they began returning to work immediately.

Hypnotist Hailed As Fasting Champ

BRIGHTON, Eng., Oct. 6 (AP)—Jack Wafer, 30-year-old New York hypnotist, sat up in a glass cubicle tonight to acknowledge the acclaim of a crowd cheering him for breaking what authorities in such matters say was the world's fasting record.

Since July 26, which adds up to 72 days, three hours and three minutes, Jack said he subsisted solely on soda water and cigarettes. He had an advantage over other fasters because, when hunger became unendurable, he hypnotized himself into the feeling that he had just finished off a steak.

Jack, telephoning from his cubicle, said he wouldn't get out of the cubicle until Friday, when he will go to Sweden to get a ham sandwich.

Adlai Will Head Into Campaign Windup Today

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 6 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson drives into the windup of his presidential campaign tomorrow with a bid to voters in 25 states with more than two-thirds of the electoral votes at stake on Nov. 4.

The Democratic presidential nominee moves into the campaign finale counting on heavy help from President Harry S. Truman but with party coffers reportedly a bit bare.

Stretching ahead of Stevenson are nearly 15,000 miles of travel, spider-webbing out from his home base here to both coasts and the Deep South. The Illinois governor will show up in around 100 cities for minor and major addresses.

Eight nationwide television-radio speeches are on tap, including two of the "fireside chat" variety without studio audiences.

Speech On Communism Set

The tee-off point tomorrow is Michigan, and an address on "the entire subject of communism"—external and internal—is scheduled for Detroit's Masonic Temple and a radio-TV audience.

Both the Democrats and the GOP have agreed on one point—that the communism issue is one of the hottest of the campaign.

Whether Stevenson and Truman will team up in a joint appearance somewhere along the line still is uncertain. There will be a near miss later in the week in Missouri, when President and nominee will visit the state a day apart.

But in the first public pronouncement of the subject from the Stevenson camp, Wilson Wyatt, Stevenson's campaign manager, told newsmen today he believes Truman's give 'em hell swing along the whistle stops definitely is helping the Democratic cause.

He's reading the record and pointing out the facts," Wyatt said. "Facts are a healthy thing and I think the President is contributing a lot of health."

As for the money supply, Wyatt said "I would be less than frank if I didn't tell you we have no overconfidence" about the state of Democratic finances. But he said the reaction has been extremely good to the idea of Democratic Financial Chairman Beardsley Ruml to try for $5 contributions from people who ordinarily aren't asked to chip in.

Eisenhower Comes Under Attack At Congress Of Communist Party

Big Coordinated Red Attack Gains But Little Ground

SEOUL, Tuesday, Oct. 7 (AP)—Communist troops attacked across two-thirds of the Korean battle-front last night and early today in the biggest coordinated operation in many months.

They were driven back almost everywhere. But intense fighting for three or four minor hills carried on into the daylight hours.

The Chinese used water as well as troops in their attacks. They opened the floodgates of a reservoir north of the battleline for their assault on two major hills northwest of Chonwon.

Water Rises Only Two Feet

Nearly 6,000 Chinese troops attacked the two peaks in the wake of the surging waters. But the river which coursed around the two hills rose only two feet, hardly enough to be noticed.

Allied defenders, fighting with grenades, fists and even stones, drove back the attackers.

At the same time, the Reds punched at the U. S. Marine line at 13 points on the extreme western front near Korangpo and Panmunjom. The Communists seized a new hill north of Korangpo, swelling their captured outpost prizes of the past few days of intense fighting.

The two major assaults hit strong-points on the Allied line east of Old Baldy. Nearly 2,000 Red troops were thrown into each action.

Marines Flied Down

The Chinese hurried between six and eight company-sized attacks—each mounted by fresh troops—at the westernmost of the two peaks. For five hours the battle raged on the shell-pitted slopes, frequently at contact range.

Then the action subsided, but at daybreak the Reds still were hammering at two outpost positions.

U. S. Marines supported by tanks and planes tried to win back a western front hill Monday but intense Chinese mortar fire pinned them down 50 yards from the top.

Alaska Defense Exercise Planned

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Combined forces will rehearse the defense of Alaska in exercise "Warm Weather" next month, the Defense Department announced tonight.

The Air Force will fly about 5,000 paratroopers from Seward Field, Tenn., to Alaska to take part in the maneuvers, one of the largest designed to test the defenses of the territory.

The exercises will be directed by Air Force Lt. Gen. W. E. Kepner, commander in chief, Alaska command.

All of the armed forces in Alaska, elements of the tactical and strategic air commands, as well as one regimental combat team of the Army's 11th Airborne Division, will participate.

Unlike the official name of the exercise, it has been scheduled to provide experience for ground, sea and air units under cold weather conditions. Major emphasis will be placed on Arctic training and the testing of both men and equipment in frigid weather.

The paratroopers will be flown from Tennessee in 80 C-119 transports. Additional men from the 11th Airborne Division will go by rail to an undisclosed destination in Canada, then proceed overland by motor convoy to the maneuver area.

LINDY'S SON BACK — Jon Lindbergh, 20-year-old son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, holds a plankton net as he sits on the rail of the ocean-going tug Kevin Moran on return to Hoboken, N. J., from a 10,000-mile oceanographic expedition.

Lindbergh, student of biology at Stanford University, was a student member of the expedition headed by Dr. W. Maurice Ewing of Columbia University. Planktons caught in net are tiny marine animals which are main food of sea creatures.

Witnesses Who Refused To Talk On TV Acquitted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—A U. S. District Court held today that two witnesses before the Kefauver Crime Investigating Committee were justified in refusing to testify in front of television and newsreel cameras.

A number of witnesses objected to the TV and newsreel cameras at the crime committee hearings, and the question whether they should be compelled to testify under such circumstances has been warmly debated by lawmakers and lawyers.

There has been no decision by higher courts, and Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut, who handed down today's ruling, said it was without precedent.

Judge Schweinhaut acquitted Morris Kleinman and Louis Rothkopf of contempt of Congress charges. Both men are from Cleveland.

Kleinman once was known as the king of Cleveland bootleggers. Rothkopf has been described by Senate crime investigators as a former Cleveland bootlegger with gambling interests in Nevada and Northern Kentucky.

Judge Schweinhaut said the concentration of cameras, radio microphones and news photographers in a crowded room "seems to me necessarily so to disturb and distract any witness to the point that he might say something that next week he will realize was erroneous."

"And," he added, "the mistake could get him in trouble all over again."

"The only reason for having a witness on the stand, either before a committee of Congress or before a court, is to get a thoughtful, calm, considered and, it is to be hoped, truthful disclosure of facts," the judge said.

"This is not always accomplished even under the best of circumstances. But at least the atmosphere of the forum should lend itself to that end."

Reds Kill Farmhand

LINZ, Austria, Oct. 6 (AP)—Two Soviet soldiers shot and killed an Austrian farmhand last night in a quarrel over refusal of an Austrian girl to dance with one of the Russians, reports received here today said.

ABOARD NIXON TRAIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—Sen. Richard M. Nixon, Republican vice presidential candidate, said today that President Truman's attacks on Gen. Eisenhower "will boomerang because the American people love a fighter."

He told a Boston Common audience on his whistle-stop tour of Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island that the President is engaging in a "mud-slinging, egg-throwing" campaign in his efforts to defeat the Republican presidential candidate.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Methodist Church's Board of Temperance says a higher percentage of women are arrested for crimes of violence than men.

The board in its publication, The Claspnet, listed as crimes of violence: Homicide, assault and disorderly conduct.

The publication said its report was based on a study of Federal Bureau of Investigation records by Laura Lindley, research secretary of the National Temperance League, Inc.

"Crimes are increasing among women," the report said, adding: "While arrests of males increased by 4 per cent in 1950, arrests of women and girls increased 11.3 per cent."

"The males arrested, however were almost 10 times the number of females arrested."

A board spokesman noted that the report does not mean that more women than men were arrested for crimes of violence. What it means, is that of those women arrested, the percentage taken into custody for crimes of violence was greater than the percentage of the men arrested for similar crimes.

The crimes for which more men than women were arrested, the report said, included such things as traffic laws, drunkenness, driving while intoxicated and offenses against family and children.

General Called "Imperialist" By Lithuanian

MOSCOW, Oct. 6 (AP)—A leading member of the Communist Party denounced Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower at the party's 19th congress today as an "imperialist." Another speaker reminded the 2,000 delegates that U. S. armed forces stand at the Soviet Union's Far Eastern frontiers.

A. P. Yesimov of the Khabarovsk region said "Communists and workers of the Far East constantly remember that American imperialists, greedy for world domination, are in the neighborhood of the far eastern boundaries of our great homeland." Khabarovsk is not far from Korea.

The attack on the Republican candidate for president of the U. S. was delivered by A. N. Snechkus, secretary-general of the Communist party of the Lithuanian S. S. R., one of the constituent republics of the U. S. S. R.

Snechkus was referring to Eisenhower's remarks to the American Legion convention, where he talked about liberating the people of the Baltic states.

"It is in vain that the imperialist Eisenhower barks at the Lithuanian people in the hope of enslaving Lithuania," Snechkus said.

The attack on Eisenhower was the first time the name of either the Democratic or Republican presidential candidates had been mentioned on the Communist congress floor. It came in the course of a general debate which followed the keynote speech last night of Politburo Member Georgi M. Malenkov who several times attacked President Truman.

Many Defects In Soviet Economy Are Disclosed
LONDON, Oct. 6 (AP)—The broadcast today of Georgi M. Malenkov's keynote speech to the 19th All-Union Soviet Communist Party Congress in Moscow disclosed a wide range of defects in the Soviet economy.

In giving an exhaustive review of these defects, Malenkov, possibly the most powerful of the ruling Kremlin hierarchy after Stalin, plainly informed the Soviet Communists last night they would bear future responsibility for their correction.

He told them that the United States wields an ever-increasing threat of war over their heads and demanded strict supervision of all phases of Soviet life in an economic drive to raise the Soviet level closer to that of the U. S.

The text of Malenkov's keynote address — the address heretofore given by Stalin himself — was broadcast by Moscow radio and monitored here. It took 5½ hours to read.

He said the Democrats have used the Reclamation and Federal Power Acts to "obtain a monopoly over hydro-power production and distribution; it seeks this monopoly not just in the West, but throughout the nation."

"Here we have the real whole hog," he said.

In Spokane, earlier in the day, Eisenhower told his audience that the formulas for prosperity were not invented by the Democrats. "After all," Eisenhower told an exuberant audience in Spokane, "there was a very prosperous United States here for a long, long time before we had the Fair Deal."

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 6 (AP)—A suggestion for recruiting a United Nations volunteer reserve army totalling up to 60,000 men to fight aggression was sent by a committee today to the U. N. Assembly for full debate.

It is expected to run into sharp Russian objections and the United States is lukewarm to the project. Ambassador Joao Carlos Muniz, Brazil, chairman of the 14-member Committee on Collective Measures, said a long report containing this idea has been approved by the committee. No formal vote was taken.

The Russians are not on the committee but they have assailed its work as being contrary to the U. N. Charter.

Doctor Whose Sex Changed Will Wed His Housekeeper

ABERDEEN, Scotland, Oct. 6 (AP)—Dr. Ewan Forbes-Sempill, whose change of sex from female to male was announced last month, posted official notice in his parish church yesterday that he will marry his housekeeper, Miss Isobel Mitchell.

The 40-year-old doctor's intention to wed was announced in Kildrumny parish church by the Rev. Peter J. MacEwen. The announcement is a formality required for all church weddings. The date of the wedding was not specified.

The doctor used to be known as Elizabeth Forbes-Sempill. On Sept. 12 a newspaper advertisement announced that she was now a male and would be known now as Ewan instead of Elizabeth.

Kennan Denies Making Remarks Charged By Reds

BONN, Germany, Oct. 6 (AP)—George F. Kennan, ousted American ambassador to the Soviet Union, denied tonight remarks attributed to him by the Communist press.

A correspondent of the London Daily Worker had written that Kennan said in Moscow at a celebration of victory in Europe on May 9, 1945 that "they (the Russians) think the war has ended, but it has only begun."

The allegation that he made the remarks was recently reprinted by the Moscow newspaper Pravda. It cited the quotation in attempting to depict Kennan as "hostile to the Soviet Union."

The ambassador branded the allegation as a "characteristic example of Communist press distortion."

The Soviet government demanded Kennan's recall last Friday. It said he was no longer welcome there because he had made "slandering attacks" on the Soviet Union.

The Kremlin objected to a statement the ambassador made to newsmen in Berlin September 19. At that time Kennan compared life for Americans in Moscow to that he underwent as a diplomat in a Nazi internment camp.

Elevator Strike Ends

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP)—A compromise agreement today ended the five-day strike of Chicago elevator operators and they began returning to work immediately.

Navy Contract For All-Jet Seaplane Given Martin Co.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—A contract to build the nation's first all-jet seaplane was awarded by the Navy today.

The contract went to the Glenn L. Martin Co. of Baltimore on the basis of its winning design in a Navy-sponsored competition.

The Navy withheld details on design and planned performance for reasons of military security.

Its brief announcement said only that the seaplane will be called the model 275 Seamaster and will be "radically different in concept and design from past models."

The Navy spokesman added that the plane will be multi-engine, large, very fast and "not a fighter."

The British have a twin-engine flying boat, but no multi-engine jet seaplanes have been built here.

Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. (Convair) San Diego, Calif., is producing a transport and cargo seaplane, the R-3-Y, for the Navy. It will probably make its first flight early in 1953. It has four jet engines driving conventional propellers.

Adlai Will Head Into Campaign Windup Today

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 6 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson drives into the windup of his presidential campaign tomorrow with a bid to voters in 25 states with more than two-thirds of the electoral votes at stake on Nov. 4.

The Democratic presidential nominee moves into the campaign finale counting on heavy help from President Harry S. Truman but with party coffers reportedly a bit bare.

Stretching ahead of Stevenson are nearly 15,000 miles of travel, spider-webbing out from his home base here to both coasts and the Deep South. The Illinois governor will show up in around 100 cities for minor and major addresses.

Eight nationwide television-radio speeches are on tap, including two of the "fireside chat" variety without studio audiences.

Speech On Communism Set

The tee-off point tomorrow is Michigan, and an address on "the entire subject of communism"—external and internal—is scheduled for Detroit's Masonic Temple and a radio-TV audience.

Both the Democrats and the GOP have agreed on one point—that the communism issue is one of the hottest of the campaign.

Whether Stevenson and Truman will team up in a joint appearance somewhere along the line still is uncertain. There will be a near miss later in the week in Missouri, when President and nominee will visit the state a day apart.

But in the first public pronouncement of the subject from the Stevenson camp, Wilson Wyatt, Stevenson's campaign manager, told newsmen today he believes Truman's give 'em hell swing along the whistle stops definitely is helping the Democratic cause.

Demo Finances Cause Concern

"He's reading the record and pointing out the facts," Wyatt said. "Facts are a healthy thing and I think the President is contributing a lot of health."

As for the money supply, Wyatt said "I would be less than frank if I didn't tell you we have no overconfidence" about the state of Democratic finances. But he said the reaction has been extremely good to the idea of Democratic Financial Chairman Bardsley Ruml to try for $5 contributions from people who ordinarily aren't asked to chip in.

Hypnotist Hailed

As Fasting Champ

BRIGHTON, Eng., Oct. 6 (AP)—Jack Wafer, 30-year-old New York hypnotist, sat up in a glass cubicle tonight to acknowledge the acclaim of a crowd cheering him for breaking what authorities in such matters say was the world's fasting record.

Since July 26, which adds up to 72 days, three hours and three minutes, Jack said he subsisted solely on soda water and cigarettes. He had an advantage over other fasters because, when hunger became unendurable, he hypnotized himself into the feeling that he had just finished off a steak.

Jack, telephoning from his cubicle, said he wouldn't get out of the cubicle until Friday, when he will go to Sweden to get a ham sandwich.

Eisenhower Comes Under Attack At Congress Of Communist Party

Big Coordinated Red Attack Gains But Little Ground

SEOUL, Tuesday, Oct. 7 (AP)—Communist troops attacked across two-thirds of the Korean battle-front last night and early today in the biggest coordinated operation in many months.

They were driven back almost everywhere. But intense fighting for three or four minor hills carried on into the daylight hours.

The Chinese used water as well as troops in their attacks. They opened the floodgates of a reservoir north of the battleline for their assault on two major hills northwest of Chonwon.

Water Rises Only Two Feet

Nearly 6,000 Chinese troops attacked the two peaks in the wake of the surging waters. But the river which coursed around the two hills rose only two feet, hardly enough to be noticed.

Allied defenders, fighting with grenades, fists and even stones, drove back the attackers.

At the same time, the Reds punched at the U. S. Marine line at 13 points on the extreme western front near Koranpo and Panmunjom. The Communists seized a new hill north of Koranpo, swelling their captured outpost prizes of the past few days of intense fighting.

The two major assaults hit strong-points on the Allied line east of Old Baldy. Nearly 2,000 Red troops were thrown into each action.

Marines Pinned Down

The Chinese hurried between six and eight company-sized attacks—each mounted by fresh troops—at the westernmost of the two peaks. For five hours the battle raged on the shell-pitted slopes, frequently at contact range.

Then the action subsided, but at daybreak the Reds still were hammering from two outpost positions.

U. S. Marines supported by tanks and planes tried to win back a western front hill Monday but intense Chinese mortar fire pinned them down 50 yards from the top.

Alaska Defense Exercise Planned

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Command forces will rehearse the defense of Alaska in exercise "Warm Weather" next month, the Defense Department announced tonight.

The Air Force will fly about 5,000 paratroopers from Seward Field, Tenn., to Alaska to take part in the maneuvers, one of the largest designed to test the defenses of the territory.

The exercises will be directed by Air Force Lt. Gen. W. E. Kepner, commander in chief, Alaska command.

All of the armed forces in Alaska, elements of the tactical and strategic air commands, as well as one regimental combat team of the Army's 11th Airborne Division, will participate.

Unlike the official name of the exercise, it has been scheduled to provide experience for ground, sea and air units under cold weather conditions. Major emphasis will be placed on Arctic training and the testing of both men and equipment in frigid weather.

The paratroopers will be flown from Tennessee in 80 C-119 transports. Additional men from the 11th Airborne Division will go by rail to an undisclosed destination in Canada, then proceed overland by motor convoy to the maneuver area.

Nixon Says Truman Throws "Boomerang"

ABOARD NIXON TRAIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—Sen. Richard M. Nixon, Republican vice presidential candidate, said today that President Truman's attacks on Gen. Eisenhower "will boomerang because the American people love a fighter."

He told a Boston Common audience on his whistle-stop tour of Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island that the President is engaging in a "mud-slinging, egg-throwing" campaign in his efforts to defeat the Republican presidential candidate.

LINDY'S SON BACK — Jon Lindbergh, 20-year-old son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, holds a plankton net as he sits on the rail of the ocean-going tug Kevin Moran on return to Hoboken, N. J., from a 10,000-mile oceanographic expedition.

Lindbergh, student of biology at Stanford University, was a student member of the expedition headed by Dr. W. Maurice Ewing of Columbia University. Planktons caught in net are tiny marine animals which are main food of sea creatures.

Witnesses Who Refused To Talk On TV Acquired

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—A U. S. District Court held today that two witnesses before the Kefauver Crime Investigating Committee were justified in refusing to testify in front of television and newsreel cameras.

A number of witnesses objected to the TV and newsreel cameras at the crime committee hearings, and the question whether they should be compelled to testify under such circumstances has been warmly debated by lawmakers and lawyers.

There has been no decision by higher courts, and Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut, who handed down today's ruling, said it was without precedent.

Judge Schweinhaut acquitted Morris Kleinman and Louis Rothkopf of contempt of Congress charges. Both men are from Cleveland.

Kleinman once was known as the king of Cleveland bootleggers. Rothkopf has been described by Senate crime investigators as a former Cleveland bootlegger with gambling interests in Nevada and Northern Kentucky.

Judge Schweinhaut said the concentration of cameras, radio microphones and news photographers in a crowded room "seems to me necessarily so to disturb and distract any witness to the point that he might say something that next week he will realize was erroneous."

"And," he added, "the mistake could get him in trouble all over again."

"The only reason for having a witness on the stand, either before a committee of Congress or before a court, is to get a thoughtful, calm, considered and, it is to be hoped, truthful disclosure of facts," the judge said.

"This is not always accomplished even under the best of circumstances. But at least the atmosphere of the forum should lend itself to that end."

Reds Kill Farmland

LINZ, Austria, Oct. 6 (AP)—Two Soviet soldiers shot and killed an Austrian farmland last night in a quarrel over refusal of an Austrian girl to dance with one of the Russians, reports received here today said.

Crime Among Women Rises

Sharply, Church Board Says

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Methodist Church's Board of Temperance says a higher percentage of women are arrested for crimes of violence than men.

The board in its publication, The Claspnet, listed as crimes of violence: Homicide, assault and disorderly conduct.

The publication said its report was based on a study of Federal Bureau of Investigation records by Laura Lindley, research secretary of the National Temperance League, Inc.

General Called "Imperialist" By Lithuanian

MOSCOW, Oct. 6 (AP)—A leading member of the Communist Party denounced Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower at the party's 19th congress today as an "imperialist." Another speaker reminded the 2,000 delegates that U. S. armed forces stand at the Soviet Union's Far Eastern frontiers.

A. P. Yesimov of the Khabarovsk region said "Communists and workers of the Far East constantly remember that American imperialists, greedy for world domination, are in the neighborhood of the far eastern boundaries of our great homeland."

The attack on the Republican candidate for president of the U. S. was delivered by A. N. Snechuk, secretary-general of the Communist party of the Lithuanian S. S. R., one of the constituent republics of the U. S. S. R.

Snechuk was referring to Eisenhower's remarks to the American Legion convention, where he talked about liberating the people of the Baltic states.

"It is in vain that the imperialist Eisenhower barks at the Lithuanian people in the hope of enslaving Lithuania," Snechuk said.

The attack on Eisenhower was the first time the name of either the Democratic or Republican presidential candidates had been mentioned on the Communist congress floor. It came in the course of a general debate which followed the keynote speech last night of Politburo Member Georgi M. Malenkov who several times attacked President Truman.

Many Defects In Soviet Economy Are Disclosed

LONDON, Oct. 6 (AP)—The broadcast today of Georgi M. Malenkov's keynote speech to the 19th All-Union Soviet Communist Party Congress in Moscow disclosed a wide range of defects in the Soviet economy.

In giving an exhaustive review of these defects, Malenkov, possibly the most powerful of the ruling Kremlin hierarchy after Stalin, plainly informed the Soviet Communists last night they would bear future responsibility for their correction.

He told them that the United States wields an ever-increasing threat of war over their heads and demanded strict supervision of all phases of Soviet life in an economic drive to raise the Soviet level closer to that of the U. S.

The text of Malenkov's keynote address — the address heretofore given by Stalin himself — was broadcast by Moscow radio and monitored here. It took 5½ hours to read.

It is expected to run into sharp Russian objections and the United States is lukewarm to the project. Ambassador Joao Carlos Muniz, Brazil, chairman of the 14-member Committee on Collective Measures, said a long report containing this idea has been approved by the committee. No formal vote was taken. The Russians are not on the committee but they have assailed its work as being contrary to the U. N. Charter.

Volunteer U. N.
Army Proposed

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 6 (AP)—A suggestion for recruiting a United Nations volunteer reserve army totalling up to 60,000 men to fight aggression was sent by a committee today to the U. N. Assembly for full debate.

It is expected to run into sharp Russian objections and the United States is lukewarm to the project. Ambassador Joao Carlos Muniz, Brazil, chairman of the 14-member Committee on Collective Measures, said a long report containing this idea has been approved by the committee. No formal vote was taken. The Russians are not on the committee but they have assailed its work as being contrary to the U. N. Charter.

Crime Among Women Rises

Sharply, Church Board Says

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Methodist Church's Board of Temperance says a higher percentage of women are arrested for crimes of violence than men.

The board in its publication, The Claspnet, listed as crimes of violence: Homicide, assault and disorderly conduct.

The publication said its report was based on a study of Federal Bureau of Investigation records by Laura Lindley, research secretary of the National Temperance League, Inc.

"Crimes are increasing among women," the report said, adding: "While arrests of males increased by 4 per cent in 1950, arrests of women and girls increased 11.3 per cent."

"The males arrested, however were almost 10 times the number of females arrested."

A board spokesman noted that the report does not mean that more women than men were arrested for crimes of violence. What it means, is that of those women arrested, the percentage taken into custody for crimes of violence was greater than the percentage of the men arrested for similar crimes.

The crimes for which more men than women were arrested, the report said, included such things as traffic laws, drunkenness, driving while intoxicated and offenses against family and children.

Assails "Idea Of Whole Hog Government"

Declares Truman
Plays Demagogue

SEATTLE, Oct. 6 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower called President Truman "an expert in political demagoguery" tonight.

In a full dress review of the problem of water and power development, the general said the Truman administration is devoted to one idea, "the idea of a whole hog federal government."

In a speech prepared for delivery in Seattle, the Republican presidential candidate argued for more local control of the great reclamation and power projects.

He ridiculed the contention of the Democrats that they initiated such works in the West. On the contrary, he said, the Democrats have used the Reclamation Act and the Federal Power Act to increase and perpetuate their own power in Washington.

Ike Blisters Truman

Eisenhower's stopover here for a major campaign speech followed a day of whistle-stopping across the state of Washington along the same route as that taken last week by President Truman.

The general, hugely enjoying waves of laughter, blistered the President on his cross-state run.

In Seattle, he hit at what he called the Democrats' top-heavy federal control in reclamation and power development, and in advancing his own idea, said:

"I am convinced out of my experience with some very big jobs that the way to do it is by sharing of effort rather than by its concentration."

"This means the full use of private resources plus a local, state and federal partnership here in the state of Washington and the Pacific Northwest rather than dependence upon a daily directive from Washington, D. C."

The phrase "whole hog government" studded his speech.

"The Democrats, he said, are 'obsessed with that idea.'"

The whole hog theory is that the federal government must own and control just as many of our resources as it can lay its hands on," Eisenhower said.

"Zealots" Draw Ike's Fire

"The whole hog idea is a corruption of the federal-state principle on which our nation was built."

"The apostles of the whole hog idea are interested not in money for themselves but in power for themselves. They thirst to govern. They are zealots

Three Teachers Who Defied Red Probers Fired

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—Three college professors were fired tonight for refusing to tell a Senate committee whether they had been members of the Communist Party.

The Board of Higher Education dismissed the three after a session at Hunter College during which some 75 students stood on the street outside and shouted slogans on behalf of the professors.

The trio appeared before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee here Sept. 24, but declined to answer questions about possible Communist affiliations on the ground they might incriminate themselves.

The three are Bernard F. Riess, associate professor of psychology and philosophy at Hunter College; Harry Slochower, associate professor of German at Brooklyn College; and Vera Shlakman, assistant professor of economics at Queens College.

They were suspended without pay Friday, pending today's public hearing. After the hearing, the board went into executive session and then announced its decision. Their dismissals were effective as of last Friday.

Slochower issued a statement saying:

"The board knows that I am not a Communist, knows that I have had no associations with any kind of political activity at least for the past 10 or 12 years."

Dr. Shlakman said of her suspension:

"Such speedy capitulation to the pressures brought by the McCarran subcommittee is in marked contrast with the kindly consideration displayed in other cases brought to your attention."

Youngster 'Alive' Again, Still Blind

SPRINGFIELD, Vt., Oct. 6 (AP)—The mother of a 3-year-old boy who has been unconscious for two months after being trapped in an unused ice box said she is "thrilled to death" because the youngster uttered a feeble greeting "Hi Dad."

To Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith, their boy Gary, is "alive" again, although still blind.

Last Aug. 7, Gary was found in the discarded ice box, his pet kitten clasp in his arms. The kitten suffered no ill effects but Gary had been in a deep coma until yesterday when he spoke to his father. He still is in a light coma.

State Racing Setup Blasted; Punch Bowl Probe Looms

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Criticism of Maryland's racing setup and commotion over a silver punch bowl today carried into the fifth District campaign for Congress.

Richard E. Lankford, the Democratic candidate, asserted Frank Small, Jr., his Republican opponent, should resign as chairman of the State Racing Commission.

Lankford's blast came on the heels of a report blistering the commission for "lax leadership" in horse racing affairs. It also followed a demand that the Legislative Council find out whether pressure had been put on track owners to buy a punch bowl set for the governor's mansion.

A committee appointed by the council, between sessions arm of the General Assembly, reported on its racing investigation yesterday. Among its conclusions was one that the commission needs "revitalizing."

This, Lankford said, means Small "should resign at once for the good of the commission and for the good of the taxpayers of Maryland."

If Small doesn't step out, Lankford said, Gov. McKeldin should fire him. And, he added, the governor "must not let the recent gift of a $4,000 punch bowl influence his actions."

The demand for a punch bowl inquiry came from State Sen. Sybert (D-Howard) who headed the council committee that looked into racing. He said there were signs of "a great deal of compulsion" on track owners to finance the gift.

The punch bowl and 12 cups were received at the governor's mansion last December. The set was used at the annual New Year's Day reception. The first public word of its

Would-Be Bank Robber Sought By State Police

BRANDYWINE, Md., Oct. 6 (AP)—State and Prince Georges County police pressed a search tonight for a lone masked man who fled empty-handed from the Bank of Brandywine.

Police broadcast the license tag number and description of a Maryland automobile seen speeding away from the area.

The man, wearing a handkerchief around his face, apparently broke into the bank through a rear door some time during the night and was waiting when Cashier William T. McPherson, 80, and Assistant Cashier Roland Sasser arrived to open up for the day.

According to accounts, McPherson had started to enter the bank when he saw a canvas bag on the floor. Instead of entering, he went across the street to the garage of Henry A. Meinhardt and said something might be wrong at the bank.

The two then walked back across the street and met Sasser, who was about to enter the bank. Meinhardt started to follow Sasser through the door when he saw the man holding a gun on Sasser.

"The robber was standing behind the door," Meinhardt said. "His gun was at arm's length from Mr. Sasser. I figured he hadn't seen me and I ducked around the corner to call police."

McPherson also had gone to call the police and the holdup man apparently became aware that he had been seen by some one other than Sasser.

He ordered the assistant cashier out of the bank, then turned and fled out of the same rear door through which he had gained entrance.

Rita's Attorney Says Oivorce Is On Again

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (INS)—Actress Rita Hayworth, who stalked out of the Paris mansion of her husband, Prince Aly Khan, last Thursday has instructed her attorney to go ahead with her divorce plans.

The attorney, Bartley Crum, said today that the on-again, off-again divorce is "definitely on." Crum said that Rita sent him a note of instruction after a week's visit with the Moslem prince in Paris ended in discord.

Bethesda Store Robbed Of $10,000 In Jewels

BETHESDA, Md., Oct. 6 (AP)—Ten thousand dollars worth of rings, watches and other small items of jewelry were taken from Lee Bord's jewelry store sometime early today. Montgomery County police discovered the theft during a routine check at 4 a. m.

Bord said the thieves sawed the bars off a rear window, then broke the glass to gain entrance to the store.

AWARD WINNER — Sir Frank MacFarlane Burnet, M. D., 53, of Melbourne, Australia, was named winner of a 1952 Lasker Foundation Award of the American Public Health Association. Car Production Regains Ground

DETROIT, Oct. 6 (AP)—The nation's auto makers are regaining much of the production volume lost during the steel strike.

Some individual companies still are behind scheduled output, but the industry as a whole is almost abreast of allotted volume. Quotas assigned to the industry by the National Production Authority (NPA) called for the production this year of 4,356,000 passenger autos. There is a good chance that total will be realized.

More than 3,000,000 of the year's authorized output of cars already has been achieved. Steel appears to be coming through in quantity sufficient to assure high level assembly line operations by most of the higher volume producers throughout the current fourth quarter.

Despite considerable new model work, including new tooling as well as some actual production, the industry is expected to turn out close to half a million passenger cars in October. That, of course, means considerable Saturday work as well as the extension of regular shift operations.

The entire Chrysler line reportedly will show some noteworthy body styling changes. Details still are withheld but probably will be made known with in advance of the public introduction of the new cars.

Lewis Expected To Support Adlai

CINCINNATI, Oct. 6 (AP)—John L. Lewis, fresh from victory in his periodic wars with the coal industry, appeared close tonight to switching allegiance from the Republican to the Democratic party.

Lewis, 72-year-old president of the United Mine Workers union, with powerful political support in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio, held his own counsel on the eve of his United Mine Workers union convention.

But Lewis, an avowed Republican, already has labelled Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican nominee, as a leader of the "especially privileged group of oppressive exploiters."

Lewis keynotes his quadrennial convention tomorrow and it seemed likely, in view of his expressed opposition to Eisenhower, that he will either endorse Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, or declare a neutral position in the presidential campaign.

Both the AFL and CIO have come out for Stevenson, and the guessing has been that Lewis will go along. But whatever Lewis may say on the political question must be taken with some salt, since his mine workers often do their own political choosing at the ballot box.

NOSE, THROAT,

and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."

State Racing Setup Blasted; Punch Bowl Probe Looms

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Criticism of Maryland's racing setup and commotion over a silver punch bowl today carried into the fifth District campaign for Congress.

Richard E. Lankford, the Democratic candidate, asserted Frank Small, Jr., his Republican opponent, should resign as chairman of the State Racing Commission.

Lankford's blast came on the heels of a report blistering the commission for "lax leadership" in horse racing affairs. It also followed a demand that the Legislative Council find out whether pressure had been put on track owners to buy a punch bowl set for the governor's mansion.

A committee appointed by the council, between sessions arm of the General Assembly, reported on its racing investigation yesterday. Among its conclusions was one that the commission needs "revitalizing."

This, Lankford said, means Small "should resign at once for the good of the commission and for the good of the taxpayers of Maryland."

If Small doesn't step out, Lankford said, Gov. McKeldin should fire him. And, he added, the governor "must not let the recent gift of a $4,000 punch bowl influence his actions."

The demand for a punch bowl inquiry came from State Sen. Sybert (D-Howard) who headed the council committee that looked into racing. He said there were signs of "a great deal of compulsion" on track owners to finance the gift.

The punch bowl and 12 cups were received at the governor's mansion last December. The set was used at the annual New Year's Day reception. The first public word of its

Would-Be Bank Robber Sought By State Police

BRANDYWINE, Md., Oct. 6 (AP)—State and Prince Georges County police pressed a search tonight for a lone masked man who fled empty-handed from the Bank of Brandywine.

Police broadcast the license tag number and description of a Maryland automobile seen speeding away from the area.

The man, wearing a handkerchief around his face, apparently broke into the bank through a rear door some time during the night and was waiting when Cashier William T. McPherson, 80, and Assistant Cashier Roland Sasser arrived to open up for the day.

According to accounts, McPherson had started to enter the bank when he saw a canvas bag on the floor. Instead of entering, he went across the street to the garage of Henry A. Meinhardt and said something might be wrong at the bank.

The two then walked back across the street and met Sasser, who was about to enter the bank. Meinhardt started to follow Sasser through the door when he saw the man holding a gun on Sasser.

"The robber was standing behind the door," Meinhardt said. "His gun was at arm's length from Mr. Sasser. I figured he hadn't seen me and I ducked around the corner to call police."

McPherson also had gone to call the police and the holdup man apparently became aware that he had been seen by some one other than Sasser.

He ordered the assistant cashier out of the bank, then turned and fled out of the same rear door through which he had gained entrance.

Rita's Attorney Says Divorce Is On Again

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (INS)—Actress Rita Hayworth, who stalked out of the Paris mansion of her husband, Prince Aly Khan, last Thursday has instructed her attorney to go ahead with her divorce plans.

The attorney, Bartley Crum, said today that the on-again, off-again divorce is "definitely on." Crum said that Rita sent him a note of instruction after a week's visit with the Moslem prince in Paris ended in discord.

Bethesda Store Robbed Of $10,000 In Jewels

BETHESDA, Md., Oct. 6 (AP)—Ten thousand dollars worth of rings, watches and other small items of jewelry were taken from Lee Bord's jewelry store sometime early today.

Montgomery County police discovered the theft during a routine check at 4 a. m.

Bord said the thieves sawed the bars off a rear window, then broke the glass to gain entrance to the store.

AWARD WINNER — Sir Frank MacFarlane Burnet, M. D., 53, of Melbourne, Australia, was named winner of a 1952 Lasker Foundation Award of the American Public Health Association. Dr. Burnet was cited "for fundamentally advancing our knowledge of virus and the inheritance of characteristics by viruses." In addition to a statuette, Dr. Burnet will receive a $1,000 cash prize.

Car Production Regains Ground

DETROIT, Oct. 6 (AP)—The nation's auto makers are regaining much of the production volume lost during the steel strike.

Some individual companies still are behind scheduled output, but the industry as a whole is almost abreast of allotted volume. Quotas assigned to the industry by the National Production Authority (NPA) called for the production this year of 4,356,000 passenger autos. There is a good chance that total will be realized.

More than 3,000,000 of the year's authorized output of cars already has been achieved. Steel appears to be coming through in quantity sufficient to assure high level assembly line operations by most of the higher volume producers throughout the current fourth quarter.

Despite considerable new model work, including new tooling as well as some actual production, the industry is expected to turn out close to half a million passenger cars in October. That, of course, means considerable Saturday work as well as the extension of regular shift operations.

The entire Chrysler line reportedly will show some noteworthy body styling changes. Details still are withheld but probably will be made known well in advance of the public introduction of the new cars.

Lewis Expected To Support Adlai

CINCINNATI, Oct. 6 (AP)—John L. Lewis, fresh from victory in his periodic wars with the coal industry, appeared close tonight to switching allegiance from the Republican to the Democratic party.

Lewis, 72-year-old president of the United Mine Workers union, with powerful political support in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio, held his own counsel on the eve of his United Mine Workers union convention.

But Lewis, an avowed Republican already has labeled Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican nominee, as a leader of the "especially privileged group of oppressive exploiters."

Lewis keynotes his quadrennial convention tomorrow and it seemed likely, in view of his expressed opposition to Eisenhower, that he will either endorse Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, or declare a neutral position in the presidential campaign.

Both the AFL and CIO have come out for Stevenson, and the guessing has been that Lewis will go along. But whatever Lewis may say on the political question must be taken with some salt, since his mine workers often do their own political choosing at the ballot box.

NOSE, THROAT,

and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."

City Motor Vehicle
Mishap Rate Drops
City motor vehicles have had only two accidents since a safety campaign began five months ago.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan reported to the Mayor and Council today that one occurred last month with only two or three dollars damages. Before the new system went into effect, the city averaged one a month.

Non-Partisan Farmers

Unlike the big labor groups, the nation's major farm organizations this year, as in the past, are staying out of the Presidential campaign. The American Federation of Labor, with its claimed membership of 8.1 million, broke a precedent this year to endorse Adlai Stevenson. The Democratic nominee has the backing also of the CIO with its 4.4 million members.

But the American Farm Bureau Federation, which represents about 26 per cent of America's farm families—more than 1,450,000 members as against a 1950 census of 5,620,000 farm families—has no avowed candidate. "In general, we like the Republican farm policy better than the Democratic farm policy," is the way one Farm Bureau spokesman put it. "But there are planks we like in the Democratic platform."

Farm Bureau policy is formed at the grass roots—or, in the words of an official statement, "Farm Bureau develops its policies on a nonpartisan basis and mobilizes support for them on a bi-partisan basis." Resolutions dealing with state and national matters are adopted at meetings of county farm bureaus. State resolutions committees develop resolutions for consideration of voting county delegates at state conventions.

In turn, resolutions adopted at state conventions are forwarded to the national resolutions committee (made up of delegates from the states), where they are integrated into statements of national policy. Then they are submitted at the annual convention in December to the voting delegates from 47 states and Puerto Rico.

On the basis of its 1951 convention resolutions, the AFBF opposes "government paternalism"—favors flexible price supports—condemns the Brannan plan—recommends that crop insurance be placed on a "sound actuarial basis"—opposes regulation of commodity exchanges—favors research and service activities in soil, water, and forest conservation over direct payment to farmers—wants continued and simplified importation of Mexican farm labor—urges further rural electrification.

In foreign aid, the AFBF proposes to: (1) "limit the give-away program and (2) enable allied nations to earn what they need in order to buy what they need in the United States in a businesslike manner." On other major issues, Farm Bureau opposes wage and price controls; favors curbing inflation by restraining the expansion of credit; wants a federal tax policy which will lead to a more stable price level; urges that the "letter and spirit" of the Taft-Hartley Act be carried out; favors a 48-hour basic work week "for the mobilization period"; opposes taxation of co-operatives' savings returned as cash, patronage earnings.

The American Farm Bureau Federation is an outgrowth of county farm bureaus which worked with early county agricultural agents. In 1920, 28 state Farm Bureaus ratified the constitution of the AFBF.

Heaviest membership—some 720,000 farm families—is, logically, in Midwest states. But farm bureaus in the South have almost 500,000 families. New England, with the addition of the Maine State Bureau this year, has some 150,000 family memberships; and the Western states have about 115,000 families. Membership standards are set by state federations; some restrict active membership to commercial farmers.

Landmarks And Mores

Historians of the considerably distant future may be bemused by the importance the present day attaches to relics of the past and particularly to so-called landmarks.

The restoration of Williamsburg, a Virginia town of colonial days, and the preservation of edifices like Washington's headquarters at Morristown, N. J., will always win high approval. But, then, there's that barn in Hartford, Conn.

In the very heart of the Connecticut capital, across the street from the City Library, stands a ramshackle affair, eaten by termites and a pronounced fire risk, whose sole claim to fame is that George Washington's horse (unnamed among his many mounts) is reputed to have spent the night there in 1781 when Washington went to Hartford to meet Rochambeau.

The barn was to have been torn down, but "public spirited citizens" protested, historical societies raised a hullabaloo, and now the city council has beaten them to the punch and decided to rehabilitate the structure and move it to a public park.

Mores change more rapidly than Americans' attachment to everything accounted historical. The Duryea one-lunger gasoline buggy is in the Smithsonian Institution, where it belongs. Time passes and fewer and fewer are the barflies who can get free drinks by an offer to let one "shake the hand that shook the hand of John L. Sullivan."

Prodigious Achievement

Few metropolitan newspapers gave front-page space to the passing of Penstate Veeman Josie, of State College, Pa. But Penstate Veeman Josie set a mark that may be aimed at for years before it is surpassed.

For more than three years Penstate Veeman Josie, a Holstein, held the record as the greatest milk producer of the nation. Josie's final total shows a milk production of 257,778 pounds, and 8,187.5 pounds of butterfat.

This one-cow dairy, who lacked two months of being 20 years old, continued adding to her record until last May, over three times the age of the average cow in milk production.

Josie left more than 50 female descendants, and a permanent plaque to her memory will be placed on the wall of a barn at State College. She belonged to the college herd.

The dairy industry is one of the nation's greatest. Certainly the cow that produced the most milk during her lifetime deserves mention upon her demise. Her like may be seen again, but it was never seen before.

The Tonsilectomy Ritual

In the future, more of the population will reach adulthood with their tonsils and adenoids. This new era has been brought about through the effects of penicillin and the sulfonamides. As a result of these remedies, tonsils escape many infections which in bygone days led to chronic disease. The same can be said of the ears, the mastoids, and the sinuses surrounding the nose and throat.

But this is only part of the story. Fewer tonsilectomies are being done because many of the old reasons for removal have been disproved. Furthermore, the organs serve a good purpose and are not necessarily detrimental to health. In this respect, they are not the worthless appendages they were considered a generation ago. These are the factors which have swung the pendulum away from the operation as a routine measure.

The modern tonsil has been exonerated of all the crimes of its forefathers. It no longer is looked upon as the trigger mechanism that led to the development of rheumatic fever, arthritis, heart trouble, Bright's disease, and a host of other systemic disorders. The same can be said of its association with peptic ulcer, gall bladder disease, and appendicitis. This was the old "foci of infection" theory. These maladies often develop despite the tonsils, and many patients continue to suffer from the original condition for which tonsilectomy was done. We are even beginning to question the role of the tonsils in sore throat because one can exist without the other. Furthermore, sore throat does not necessarily mean tonsillitis and we wonder why old timers picked on the tonsils but neglected to incriminate the throat.

But we have learned other secrets about the tonsils that make us hesitate to recommend their extraction. Enlargement is not synonymous with infection; neither is an unhealthy appearance of these organs. Some of the largest and worst looking have proved benign when scrutinized in the laboratory under the microscope. The opposite also is true.

When we add these fallacies to the known function of the tonsils, the pendulum is likely to swing even further. The tonsils are the main cog in a ring of lymph tissue that guards from bacteria one of the chief entrances to the body. This ring not only stops organisms from entering the system but also eliminates them should they be captured. Extirpating the tonsils does not do away with the protective ring entirely; hence, those who have had a tonsilectomy need not be unduly alarmed. Moreover, the operation will continue to be done whenever needed and, in these cases, the individual will be farther ahead without them. But we can be certain that the physician will have a good reason for performing a tonsilectomy. In recurring rheumatic fever, for example, taking out infected tonsils between attacks may decrease the number of bouts of sore throats and tonsillitis which often act as preludes to rheumatic fever. The same logic might be applied to other infectious processes, but few magic cures can be expected.

Facts On "Crusade In Europe"; Arab Demand For Probe Of Racial Segregation In South Africa Behind Threat To Pull Troops Out Of Korea

LOS ANGELES—Here are the inside facts on General Eisenhower's book, "Crusade in Europe," and the much-discussed capital gains tax which the Bureau of Internal Revenue granted him.

The ruling is estimated to have saved Ike in the neighborhood of half a million dollars. Later, Congress adopted an amendment closing the loophole.

After a preliminary talk with Internal Revenue, Eisenhower wrote a letter to Undersecretary of the Treasury Archibald Wiggins on Dec. 20, 1947, outlining the following facts:

"Certain publishers have urged me to write a personal memoir of the war years.

The proposal is that the publisher take in one transaction the complete bundle of rights. The sale would completely divorce me from further control over the manuscript. It would produce no further income to me.

"I am not a professional writer in any sense of the word. "I am anxious to comply with every requirement of the law."

Eisenhower then asked the question: "Will the Treasury Department regard this transaction as a capital gain or as income?"

On Dec. 22, 1947—two days later—which was extremely fast action for the Treasury, Commissioner of Internal Revenue Schoeneman gave Eisenhower a reply. Ordinarily a reply on a matter of this kind does not come for a month—frequently longer.

Schoeneman wrote that Eisenhower's book looked like a capital asset transaction, but pointed out that Ike would have to hold the completed manuscript six months after its completion before selling it, if he was to get a capital gain.

Richberg Ike's "Adviser"

Seven days later, on Dec. 29, Donald Richberg, a partner of Ambassador Joseph E. Davies who first suggested the capital gains tax to Eisenhower, wrote commissioner Schoeneman:

"I am acting as volunteer adviser to General Eisenhower in regard to his memoirs."

Richberg then proceeded to raise some technical questions about the capital gains tax, apparently to make sure that Ike's contract with the publishers would contain the clauses necessary to insure a capital gains tax.

The general then waited nearly a year. In this time the book was completed, and, after completion, it was held six additional months. Then he wrote another letter to Internal Revenue. Commissioner Schoeneman replied Dec. 7, 1948:

"You state you completed 'Crusade in Europe' on March 24, 1948, that you held the manuscript and all rights for more than six months after completion, and that on Oct. 1, 1948, you sold the book to Doubleday and Doran, Inc. . . . All rights to the book."

"In view of the above you request that the gains be classed as long-term capital gains."

"This office will recommend the approval of a closing agreement on the following basis:

"The manuscript entitled 'Crusade in Europe' completed by you on March 24, 1948, was a capital asset within the meaning of Sect. 117 (A) (1) of the Internal Revenue Code, and the amount of $635,000 received by you upon the sale of the manuscript constitutes a long-term capital gain."

U. S. A. Vs. U. Of S. Africa

It has been carefully hushed up, but South Africa has threatened to pull her troops out of Korea. The reason, far removed from Korea, is racial segregation.

The threat will be carried out, Premier Malan has warned, if the United States supports the Arab demand for an investigation of racial segregation in South Africa.

The loss of the South African troops would have little effect on UN military strength in Korea. But it would be the first break in the united front, and a severe psychological blow.

Inside story is that the Arab nations—including also India, Pakistan and Burma—have asked the United Nations to investigate the South African policy of "apartheid," or discrimination against non-whites.

This is a hot domestic issue in South Africa, so, in an effort to block the UN investigation, Premier Malan has resorted to diplomatic blackmail, threatening to pull his troops out of Korea and embarrass the United States before the world if we support the Arab move.

The issue is still hanging over the heads of the American delegation at the United Nations.

Korea Becomes "China"

It hasn't leaked out to the public, but Russia has turned Korea over to the Chinese Communists as a "military protectorate."

This was the chief result of the Sino-Russian talks in Moscow last month.

The Chinese, growing increasingly lukewarm over the Korean War, have been looking for a face-saving way out. So Russia, anxious to keep American military strength tied down in Korea, agreed to turn Korea over to the Chinese as a concession. In addition, the Kremlin promised to step up military supplies to the Chinese.

The results of the Moscow agreement are already beginning to show on the front, where the North Ko-

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Harry And Adlai

ABOARD THE PRESIDENT'S CAMPAIGN TRAIN

Aboard this extraordinary train of Harry S. Truman's, it is frankly admitted that the Democratic campaign strategy has gone slightly awry.

The idea, of course, was for Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson to make his mark with the voters during September, while the President kept silent. Then, with Stevenson already established as a major national personality, the President was to get in his licks, as he is now doing. What has gone wrong is that the Illinois governor has somehow failed to register really vividly with the broad mass of the electorate. You discover this failure among the amazing crowds that run out everywhere for Truman. Although the President himself is unfailingly generous, the Stevenson failure is acknowledged by the more realistic members of Truman's own entourage. It has been much discussed by the Democratic candidates and attendant politicians who have swarmed through this train from Montana onwards.

The truth is that out in this part of the country at least, Adlai Stevenson still remains a fairly dim figure to most of the people who will go to the polls only a month from now.

The trouble does not seem to be that Stevenson's speeches have been too elevated or too "high level," although a tough more political pug-nacity might have helped. Judging by all the signs, the trouble is that only a few of the voters have either heard or read what Stevenson has had to say.

In part, it had better be confessed, the blame lies with the newspapers and allied businesses. They have gone all-out to build up Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, while merely according Stevenson the limited privilege of a chilly hearing.

Eisenhower was a nationally advertised product long before the campaign began.

Stevenson was not well-known except in Illinois, and had no ready-made audience. Thus the almost unanimous coldness of the engines of publicity has been a particularly heavy handicap to the Illinois governor.

In part, however, the fault is clearly Stevenson's. His handicap was plain from the start. The way to overcome the handicap was also plain—by vigorously and imaginatively exploiting Stevenson's remarkable radio and television personality from the beginning. He ought to have built his campaign around regular and frequent fireside chats, plus perhaps national question programs. These would have concentrated attention on him, and have given meaning to the scattered shots of his cross country campaigning.

The value of this method was early discussed at Stevenson headquarters. It has at last been recognized, according to report, because of the success of Stevenson's fire-side talk from Springfield a few days ago.

It is a bit late now, however, to get the original Stevenson-Truman strategy into working order again. Truman is stumping now, and with great effectiveness if one can judge by his huge and enthusiastic audiences. With the President marching across the country, pouring it on the Republicans with inexhaustible vigor, it will be hard for Stevenson to recapture his rightful place at the head of the parade.

At the same time, this distinct dislocation of the original Democratic strategy ought not to inspire any Republican complacency.

Maybe the people already wholly committed to Gen. Eisenhower think it is rude and coarse of the President to wield his oratorical bludgeon as he has been doing. But out here in California and the Northwest, the enormous numbers of people who turn out to see and hear Truman plainly remember that the General has been saying some pretty hard things about the President.

They see nothing improper in Truman giving as good as he has got. They also note a lot of unpleasant truth in Truman's untiring recitals of the record of the Republicans in Congress on such locally burning issues as public power. Thus far, Truman's homely, tough campaigning looks to be going over big. Meanwhile other Democratic big guns are beginning to fire, and some of them, especially Senator Estes Kefauver, will have great importance out here.

This is happening, moreover, at a time when the decision of the electorate appears to balance on a knife edge. Most of the pollsters say this is not the case, reporting a wide lead for Gen. Eisenhower. Only Elmo Roper has announced that fully half the electorate has not finally made up its mind, with the other half dividing 27 per cent for Stevenson and 23 per cent for Eisenhower. Roper may be alone among the professionals of the polling art. But his analysis exactly coincides with the findings of this reporter and the many other reporters on the Truman train.

Between them, the large group of reporters on this train must have asked a good many thousands of people about their voting intentions in these last weeks. All agree that the proportions of undecided answers (some, of course, showing leanings in one direction or the other) is at least half of the total.

Maybe this huge undecided mass of voters will at last be won over by Gen. Eisenhower's ringing denunciations of corruption, Communism and bungling. But it is also possible that continued sounding of these somewhat general themes, mingled with appeals to the Taft Republicans, will cause the undecided voters to grow suspicious of Republican intentions. The President is working hard to implant just such suspicions.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

A Curious Campaign

So far, General Eisenhower and Governor Adlai Stevenson have not debated those questions which most nearly concern the American people, although both touch on them. Stevenson's speeches have been literate, models of English composition, witty but with inadequate substance. Eisenhower's speeches have been improving but it is obvious that he is a better soldier than orator.

The Nixon diversion and the subsequent Stevenson disclosures are interesting but not conclusive. It would be of greater value to have a disclosure of Harry Truman's net worth and gross income since 1945 to see what a President does with his money. That would be a study in sociology rather than politics.

General Eisenhower has improved his position by closer bonds with the important elements in the Republican party. It can now be said: in the rank and file of the Republican party there is such resentment against the Truman era of corruption, and there is such fear of Stevenson's ADA socialism, that unity has been achieved without regard to personalities. Republicans generally will vote for Eisenhower. This was not true three weeks ago when the party was so split that many organization Republicans said that they would not vote at all.

A few weeks ago, it appeared that Stevenson might be the favored candidate. His campaign has bogged down so that those who devote themselves to such matters now believe that the candidates are running neck and neck, with no one actually in the lead. It is next to impossible to appraise the independent vote which does not express itself in any form of enthusiasm. Yet, expert politicians, of long experience, say that they had never witnessed so large an uncertain vote.

Harry Truman's interjection into the campaign may produce the effect of a Taft-Truman debate which many had hoped might have happened for the good of the country. Truman cannot factually defend his confusions and the overt corruption in Washington because the evidence is against him. Instead he is emphasizing that he is a "military protectorate."

Truman cannot factually defend his confusions and the overt corruption in Washington because the evidence is against him. Instead he is emphasizing that he is a "military protectorate."

Truman cannot factually defend his confusions and the overt corruption in Washington because the evidence is against him. Instead he is em-

playing vituperation, wisecracks, falsehoods and smart-aleck exaggerations. Taft remains factual and earnest. No one can appraise at this moment the effectiveness in votes of the Truman effort. In a country where Bishop Fulton Sheen can compete against Milton Berle for a television audience, with an astonishing measure of success, it is possible to believe that the people will resent the reduction of the high office of the Presidency to Harry Truman's intellectual level.

Nevertheless, there has not yet been a serious debate on the Korean War, on the China policy, on the nature of the inflation and the specific remedy, on the reduction of taxes, on the handling of the debt, on the arresting of the extension of socialism, on the export of American wealth to Europe, Asia, and Africa, on the continuance of a permanent war basis, on the nature of our society in relationship with an expanding Communist world.

These are a few of the subjects that need to be discussed, not in generalities but with a fitting regard for detail and for the right of the people to know what has been done in the past and what measures are projected to correct the errors of the past.

Many Americans believe that the Department of State under the Marshall-Acheson regime, and before, has lost a war for the United States after it had been won, and involved our country in a state of permanent war resulting from the rise of Soviet Russia and Soviet China.

While those Americans, who number millions, can sympathize with General Eisenhower's unwillingness to embarrass his former chief, General George C. Marshall, they nevertheless feel that the United States comes before any personalities and that, the Constitution providing these four year intervals for national debate, it is General Eisenhower's duty to speak up sharply. They do not expect as much from Governor Stevenson because he is bound to defend the Truman administration. If Eisenhower goes easy and Stevenson evades, the people are robbed of their rightful opportunity to listen to a public debate on the character of the management of the State Department.

In a way, the Eisenhower campaign was rescued first by Robert A. Taft and then by Richard Nixon. But the leader is Eisenhower and he has to lead forcefully to win.

Non-Partisan Farmers

Unlike the big labor groups, the nation's major farm organizations this year, as in the past, are staying out of the Presidential campaign. The American Federation of Labor, with its claimed membership of 8.1 million, broke a precedent this year to endorse Adlai Stevenson. The Democratic nominee has the backing also of the CIO with its 4.4 million members.

But the American Farm Bureau Federation, which represents about 26 per cent of America's farm families—more than 1,450,000 members as against a 1950 census of 5,620,000 farm families—has no avowed candidate. "In general, we like the Republican farm policy better than the Democratic farm policy," is the way one Farm Bureau spokesman put it. "But there are planks we like in the Democratic platform."

Farm Bureau policy is formed at the grass roots—or, in the words of an official statement, "Farm Bureau develops its policies on a nonpartisan basis and mobilizes support for them on a bi-partisan basis." Resolutions dealing with state and national matters are adopted at meetings of county farm bureaus. State resolutions committees develop resolutions for consideration of voting county delegates at state conventions.

In turn, resolutions adopted at state conventions are forwarded to the national resolutions committee (made up of delegates from the states), where they are integrated into statements of national policy. Then they are submitted at the annual convention in December to the voting delegates from 47 states and Puerto Rico.

On the basis of its 1951 convention resolutions, the AFBF opposes "government paternalism"—favors flexible price supports—condemns the Brannan plan—recommends that crop insurance be placed on a "sound actuarial basis"—opposes regulation of commodity exchanges—favors research and service activities in soil, water, and forest conservation over direct payment to farmers—wants continued and simplified importation of Mexican farm labor—urges further rural electrification.

In foreign aid, the AFBF proposes to: (1) "limit the give-away program and (2) enable allied nations to earn what they need in order to buy what they need in the United States in a businesslike manner." On other major issues, Farm Bureau opposes wage and price controls; favors curbing inflation by restraining the expansion of credit; wants a federal tax policy which will lead to a more stable price level; urges that the "letter and spirit" of the Taft-Hartley Act be carried out; favors a 48-hour basic work week "for the mobilization period"; opposes taxation of co-operatives' savings returned as cash, patronage earnings.

Schoeneman wrote that Eisenhower's book looked like a capital asset transaction, but pointed out that Ike would have to hold the completed manuscript six months after its completion before selling it, if he was to get a capital gain.

Richberg Ike's "Adviser"

Seven days later, on Dec. 29, Donald Richberg, a partner of Ambassador Joseph E. Davies who first suggested the capital gains tax to Eisenhower, wrote commissioner Schoeneman:

"I am acting as volunteer adviser to General Eisenhower in regard to his memoirs."

Richberg then proceeded to raise some technical questions about the capital gains tax, apparently to make sure that Ike's contract with the publishers would contain the clauses necessary to insure a capital gain tax.

The general then waited nearly a year. In this time the book was completed, and, after completion, it was held six additional months. Then he wrote another letter to Internal Revenue. Commissioner Schoeneman replied, Dec. 7, 1948:

"You state you completed 'Crusade in Europe' on March 24, 1948, that you held the manuscript and all rights for more than six months after completion, and that on Oct. 1, 1948, you sold the book to Doubleday and Doran, Inc. . . . All rights to the book."

"In view of the above you request that the gains be classed as long-term capital gains."

"This office will recommend the approval of a closing agreement on the following basis:

"The manuscript entitled 'Crusade in Europe' completed by you on March 24, 1948, was a capital asset within the meaning of Sect. 117 (A) (1) of the Internal Revenue Code, and the amount of $635,000 received by you upon the sale of the manuscript constitutes a long-term capital gain."

U. S. A. Vs. U. Of S. Africa

It has been carefully hushed up, but South Africa has threatened to pull her troops out of Korea. The reason, far removed from Korea, is racial segregation.

The threat will be carried out, Premier Malan has warned, if the United States supports the Arab demand for an investigation of racial segregation in South Africa.

The loss of the South African troops would have little effect on UN military strength in Korea. But it would be the first break in the united front, and a severe psychological blow.

Inside story is that the Arab nations—including also India, Pakistan and Burma—have asked the United Nations to investigate the South African policy of "apartheid," or discrimination against non-whites.

This is a hot domestic issue in South Africa, so, in an effort to block the UN investigation, Premier Malan has resorted to diplomatic blackmail, threatening to pull his troops out of Korea and embarrass the United States before the world if we support the Arab move.

The issue is still hanging over the heads of the American delegation at the United Nations.

Korea Becomes "China"

It hasn't leaked out to the public, but Russia has turned Korea over to the Chinese Communists as a "military protectorate."

This was the chief result of the Sino-Russian talks in Moscow last month.

The Chinese, growing increasingly lukewarm over the Korean War, have been looking for a face-saving way out. So Russia, anxious to keep American military strength tied down in Korea, agreed to turn Korea over to the Chinese as a concession. In addition, the Kremlin promised to step up military supplies to the Chinese.

The results of the Moscow agreement are already beginning to show on the front, where the North Ko-

Harry And Adlai

ABOARD THE PRESIDENT'S CAMPAIGN TRAIN

Aboard this extraordinary train of Harry S. Truman's, it is frankly admitted that the Democratic campaign strategy has gone slightly awry.

The idea, of course, was for Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson to make his mark with the voters during September, while the President kept silent. Then, with Stevenson already established as a major national personality, the President was to get in his licks, as he is now doing.

What has gone wrong is that the Illinois governor has somehow failed to register really vividly with the broad mass of the electorate. You discover this failure among the amazing crowds that run out everywhere for Truman. Although the President himself is unfailingly generous, the Stevenson failure is acknowledged by the more realistic members of Truman's own entourage. It has been much discussed by the Democratic candidates and attendant politicians who have swarmed through this train from Montana onwards.

The truth is that out in this part of the country at least, Adlai Stevenson still remains a fairly dim figure to most of the people who will go to the polls only a month from now.

The trouble does not seem to be that Stevenson's speeches have been too elevated or too "high level," although a tough more political pug-nacity might have helped. Judging by all the signs, the trouble is that only a few of the voters have either heard or read what Stevenson has had to say.

In part, it had better be confessed, the blame lies with the newspapers and allied businesses. They have gone all-out to build up Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, while merely according Stevenson the limited privilege of a chilly hearing.

Eisenhower was a nationally advertised product long before the campaign began.

Stevenson was not well-known except in Illinois, and had no ready-made audience. Thus the almost unanimous coldness of the engines of publicity has been a particularly heavy handicap to the Illinois governor.

In part, however, the fault is clearly Stevenson's. His handicap was plain from the start. The way to overcome the handicap was also plain—by vigorously and imaginatively exploiting Stevenson's remarkable radio and television personality from the beginning. He ought to have built his campaign around regular and frequent fireside chats, plus perhaps national question programs. These would have concentrated attention on him, and have given meaning to the scattered shots of his cross country campaigning.

The value of this method was early discussed at Stevenson headquarters. It has at last been recognized, according to report, because

A Curious Campaign

So far, General Eisenhower and Governor Adlai Stevenson have not debated those questions which most nearly concern the American people, although both touch on them. Stevenson's speeches have been literate, models of English composition, witty but with inadequate substance. Eisenhower's speeches have been improving but it is obvious that he is a better soldier than orator.

The Nixon diversion and the subsequent Stevenson disclosures are interesting but not conclusive. It would be of greater value to have a disclosure of Harry Truman's net worth and gross income since 1945 to see what a President does with his money. That would be a study in sociology rather than politics.

General Eisenhower has improved his position by closer bonds with the important elements in the Republican party. It can now be said: in the rank and file of the Republican party there is such resentment against the Truman era of corruption, and there is such fear of Stevenson's ADA socialism, that unity has been achieved without regard to personalities. Republicans generally will vote for Eisenhower. This was not true three weeks ago when the party was so split that many organized Republicans said that they would not vote at all.

A few weeks ago, it appeared that Stevenson might be the favored candidate. His campaign has bogged down so that those who devote themselves to such matters now believe that the candidates are running neck and neck, with no one actually in the lead. It is next to impossible to appraise the independent vote which does not express itself in any form of enthusiasm. Yet, expert politicians, of long experience, say that they had never witnessed so large an uncertain vote.

Harry Truman's interjection into the campaign may produce the effect of a Taft-Truman debate which many had hoped might have happened for the good of the country. Truman cannot factually defend his confusions and the overt corruption in Washington because the evidence is against him. Instead he is emrean units are being withdrawn and formed into supporting units for the Chinese.

What all this adds up to is that Korea, in the Communist scheme of things, is now a province of Red China. In other words, even the satellites are acquiring their own satellites now.

of the success of Stevenson's fire-side talk from Springfield a few days ago.

It is a bit late now, however, to get the original Stevenson-Truman strategy into working order again. Truman is stumping now, and with great effectiveness if one can judge by his huge and enthusiastic audiences. With the President marching across the country, pouring it on the Republicans with inexhaustible vigor, it will be hard for Stevenson to recapture his rightful place at the head of the parade.

At the same time, this distinct dislocation of the original Democratic strategy ought not to inspire any Republican complacency.

Maybe the people already wholly committed to Gen. Eisenhower think it is rude and coarse of the President to wield his oratorical bludgeon as he has been doing. But out here in California and the Northwest, the enormous numbers of people who turn out to see and hear Truman plainly remember that the General has been saying some pretty hard things about the President.

They see nothing improper in Truman giving as good as he has got. They also note a lot of unpleasant truth in Truman's untiring recitals of the record of the Republicans in Congress on such locally burning issues as public power. Thus far, Truman's homely, tough campaigning looks to be going over big. Meanwhile other Democratic big guns are beginning to fire, and some of them, especially Senator Estes Kefauver, will have great importance out here.

This is happening, moreover, at a time when the decision of the electorate appears to balance on a knife edge. Most of the pollsters say this is not the case, reporting a wide lead for Gen. Eisenhower. Only Elmo Roper has announced that fully half the electorate has not finally made up its mind, with the other half dividing 27 per cent for Eisenhower and 23 per cent for Stevenson. Roper may be alone among the professionals of the polling art. But his analysis exactly coincides with the findings of this reporter and the many other reporters on the Truman train.

Between them, the large group of reporters on this train must have asked a good many thousands of people about their voting intentions in these last weeks. All agree that the proportions of undecided answers (some, of course, showing leanings in one direction or the other) is at least half of the total.

Maybe this huge undecided mass of voters will at last be won over by Gen. Eisenhower's ringing denunciations of corruption, Communism and bungling. But it is also possible that continued sounding of these somewhat general themes, mingled with appeals to the Taft Republicans, will cause the undecided voters to grow suspicious of Republican intentions. The President is working hard to implant just such suspicions.

playing vituperation, wisecracks, falsehoods and smart-aleck exaggerations. Taft remains factual and earnest. No one can appraise at this moment the effectiveness in votes of the Truman effort. In a country where Bishop Fulton Sheen can compete against Milton Berle for a television audience, with an astonishing measure of success, it is possible to believe that the people will resent the reduction of the high office of the Presidency to Harry Truman's intellectual level.

Nevertheless, there has not yet been a serious debate on the Korean War, on the China policy, on the nature of the inflation and the specific remedy, on the reduction of taxes, on the handling of the debt, on the arresting or the extension of socialism, on the export of American wealth to Europe, Asia, and Africa, on the continuance of a permanent war basis, on the nature of our society in relationship with an expanding Communist world.

These are a few of the subjects that need to be discussed, not in generalities but with a fitting regard for detail and for the right of the people to know what has been done in the past and what measures are projected to correct the errors of the past.

Many Americans believe that the Department of State under the Marshall-Acheson regime, and before, has lost a war for the United States after it had been won, and involved our country in a state of permanent war resulting from the rise of Soviet Russia and Soviet China.

While those Americans, who number millions, can sympathize with General Eisenhower's unwillingness to embarrass his former chief, General George C. Marshall, they nevertheless feel that the United States comes before any personalities and that, the Constitution providing these four year intervals for national debate, it is General Eisenhower's duty to speak up sharply. They do not expect as much from Governor Stevenson because he is bound to defend the Truman administration. If Eisenhower goes easy and Stevenson evades, the people are robbed of their rightful opportunity to listen to a public debate on the character of the management of the State Department.

In a way, the Eisenhower campaign was rescued first by Robert A. Taft and then by Richard Nixon. But the leader is Eisenhower and he has to lead forcefully to win.

Council Defeats Order To Fill Vacancies On Police Department

Eves, Keegan And Edwards Vote Against Proposal Of Long And Roeder To Promote Officers Sherry And See

The Mayor and Council by a 3-2 vote yesterday refused to name Thomas J. See and John E. Sherry as lieutenants in the Police Department.

The two men had been recommended by Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long from a list of six eligibles submitted by the Civil Service Commission.

Long made the motion to approve the two and received a second from Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property. But Mayor Roy W. Eves, Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan and Water Commissioner William J. Edwards voted "no."

Read Statements

Both Eves and Long read prepared statements on the matter.

And when the decisions had been reached, Long caustically "thanked" the council for its "cooperation" in his appointments, and ordered Assistant Chief B. Frank Gaffney, substituting for vacationing Chief R. Emmett Flynn to make the following departmental changes until a study of seniority rules can be made by City Attorney Thomas B. Finan:

1. See and Sherry will revert to their original positions as patrolmen.
2. Lt. Raymond R. Johnson, who has been driving a cruiser will take over the Third Platoon.
3. The chief, or acting chief, will take over all traffic complaints.
4. Men in the department will operate the cruiser car, in alphabetical order.

Asks For Advice

Long asked if a motion before the council would be necessary to place Johnson at the head of the third platoon but Mayor Eves said such a matter is not up to the council. Long said he had asked because he didn't want it rejected later.

Eves added that the only question was setting up a job without authority to which Long replied that investigations should be made of some of the other departments where jobs had been set up.

Mrs. Roeder said that if she had an appointment she would expect the council since the commissioner of the department is alone responsible. If he makes a bad judgement, she added, that's his responsibility.

At one point in the discussion, Long turned to Attorney Finan and asked if he had not cleared the legal status of his proposed appointments with him.

Finan replied: "Yes, sir."

No Legal Question

Eves said, however, that there is no question of the legal right, but in view of circumstances some people believe vacancies are being filled where there is no vacancy.

Eves continued he would go along with the commissioner anytime when there was shown a necessity.

In referring to the Civil Service law which spells out specifically a lieutenant for the department, Finan remembered in years past where there were three lieutenants and he assumed all had the same authority.

Long hastened to make clear that this situation had been in effect before he came on the scene as commissioner.

Eves in his statement said:

Last Monday morning at an informal meeting in the mayor's office, Commissioner Long submitted two orders covering the permanent appointment of Sherry and See as lieutenants. He stated that he had selected their names from an eligible list submitted by the Civil Service Commission to the council on September 22, but that his selection was based, not upon results of the examination, but upon seniority and upon his own judgment as to qualification.

"There was also presented to the council a letter from the chief of police recommending the appointment of Patrolmen Stichter and Brown to these positions.

"The mayor was much concerned about an undercurrent of politics pervading in this case, and about having been approached a number of times by friends of the applicants for assistance in obtaining this appointment. There is no question about the commissioner having the legal right to make his own recommendation to the council, or not being required to base his selection upon grades of the names submitted to him by the Civil Service Commission. In view of these circumstances, the mayor asked the commissioner to defer presenting these names to council in legislative session until he had time to give the matter more consideration.

"I would call your attention to several inconsistencies:

"1. The Charter clearly defines the Police Department as composed of a chief, assistant chief and a lieutenant. Ordinance No. 1136, 1137 and 1164 authorize the appointment of a lieutenant. Yet we have two lieutenants, and are considering appointing two more.

"2. Ordinance No. 1506 provides that the lieutenant have charge of the third platoon, yet on May 5th we voted unanimously to assign a temporary sergeant to the third platoon, although we had, at that time, a lieutenant who was driving a squad car.

"3. The commissioner recognized experience only in his selection of the lieutenants, yet did not consider the recommendations of the chief, who certainly has had more experience in police matters than any of us. When it comes to experience the chief executive of the city has had considerable himself, along with special education in personnel matters and labor relations, following a very rough course in the U. H. K. (University of Hard Knocks).

Yet, he is seldom consulted in these matters.

"I believe that the best interests of the city, the council, and the Police Department will be served by not filling the two unauthorized positions of lieutenant at this time. Without them, the Police Department has 7 supervisors and 42 men in the ranks—a ratio of 6 to 1. I do not want to have our Police Department organized on the Mexican Army plan where it is said that officers outnumber the enlisted men."

Long said he had looked into the qualifications of the six men on the Civil Service list and that despite terrific pressure brought upon him during the week, "I haven't changed my mind because I based my original decision on qualifications.

"As for the Police and Fire grievance committee, I can only say that I think they are being sadly misled. I believe wholeheartedly in grievance committees but they weaken their status as a representative of the whole group when they seek to exert political pressure.

"According to Rule 6 of the Civil Service Commission and Chapter 17, Section 11 of the City Ordinances, the commissioner is empowered to recommend to the Mayor and Council any person who has qualified by Civil Service examination. The last few weeks I have heard quite a great deal from Police and Fire Department personnel, urging me to give greater stress on seniority." Long continued.

"I recommended Lts. See and Sherry.

Cites Qualifications

"Temporary Lts. See and Sherry have served in this capacity temporarily for over 120 days, without one single complaint against their endeavor, being registered to me by the Chief or any other citizen.

"Lt. Sherry has 16 years, three months seniority, and part of those years his experience was as a qualified sergeant. In 1947, he qualified for consideration of the chief's office by successfully passing that Civil Service exam. Lt. See has ten years seniority, and his experience has been: Head of the Detective Bureau, a graduate of the Federal Bureau of Investigation School and the Traffic Institute of Northwestern University. Only recently, F. M. Kreml, director, wrote: 'Officer Thomas See has been awarded a certificate for successfully completing the requirements of the Traffic Institute. Officer See is to be commended for his sustained interest and application during the period of training.'

"The remaining officers on the Lt. Civil Service list show seniority only as Beattmen, without rank or specialized training: Officer Joseph H. Stichter, 7 years, 9 months; Officer John F. Daum, 5 years, 2 months; Officer James W. Brown, 9 years, 4 months; Officer C. W. Thompson, 8 years, 5 months.

"Chief Flynn recommended only Officer Stichter, and informed me that there was no need for a Traffic Bureau director. However, former Lt. Edwin L. Lilya was the Traffic Bureau director during previous administrations; and it is my experience that three-fourths of the complaints registered in Cumberland are traffic problems.

More Time For Chief

"If the traffic director is given the necessary cooperation of the office, its duties and responsibilities, it can afford the chief necessary time to supervise and direct the activities of all the men and their supervisors through the three platoons, for whom he is responsible and if the law is to be enforced correctly and with justice to all people.

"The result of the Civil Service lieutenant's examination are most gratifying. The excellent grades made by the four youngest men on the list indicate that we have an abundance of supervisory material in the department who will be given opportunities for specialized training."

Miss Sager then presented an invitation to Mayor Chester J. Compton, who is also executive secretary of the Keyser-Mineral County Chamber.

Compton Gives View

Mayor Compton, who indicated that the invitation will be framed and hung in the mayor's office, said "it is fitting for two neighboring communities with so much in common to be able to get together on such an enterprise as this."

"Keyser," he said, "is very glad that Cumberland is going to have this Exposition, and Keyser people are glad to be able to participate as neighbors.

"Keyser and Cumberland have suffered together as they have prospered together. We hope that the Exposition will bring new industry to Cumberland and that the two communities will benefit together from it."

Miss Sager thanked the Mayor for his words of welcome and presented Miss Barbara Stanhagen, who will be Keyser's attendant to the queen at the Exposition.

J. Goodloe Jackson, general chairman for the Exposition, told the Chamber:

"I know of no one who has done more for this area than Miss Sager, and any tangible rewards or words of praise we may give her can never repay her for what she has done."

For several weeks, Miss Sager has been touring cities and towns in the immediate area and in several nearby states to present governors and mayors with engraved invitations to the Exposition from Mayor Roy W. Eves.

Jackson also declared "there is an affinity of feeling between Keyser and Cumberland—we need you and you need us. We in this area are not depending on anyone but ourselves to pull us out of the hole in which we found ourselves."

The chairman said the Exposition was planned in order to boost morale, acquaint everyone with the good things about Cumberland, and to attract new industry.

Briefly outlining the Exposition program, Jackson said "we hope and believe the Exposition will accomplish at least a part of what we want to accomplish. The Exposition

City Will Join County Board In Protesting Gas Rate Boost

The Mayor and Council agreed to coordinate its efforts with the Board of Allegheny County Commissioners in any protest over a proposed increase in rates for the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company.

The county has indicated it plans to protest the increase to the Public Service Commission.

The council today authorized City Attorney Thomas B. Finan to confer with the county board's attorney, Gorman E. Getty.

Two Letters Received

Two residents, W. Wallace McKaig, 528 Washington Street, and former Water Commissioner George H. Tederick urged council to protest the rate increase.

Members of the council said they had been informed the increase would amount to about 50 per cent. Tederick said it would be 50 per cent in some areas, lower in others. Tederick said "let them have a fair increase but their proposal is out of line."

Finan will report back to council on his meeting with Getty.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson was acting city clerk today in the absence of Wallace G. Ullery who is a hospital patient.

The following bids were accepted: J. S. Recher Company, $217 for decorating city building for the Greater Cumberland Industrial Exposition; Auto Salvage Company, Altoona, Pa., $18,000 for a 75,000-gallon water tank and pumps to increase North End pressure; and McKaig's, this city, $931.85 for aluminum and a lime bin for work at Lake Gordon.

Plan Reviewing Stand

The salary of Mrs. Marguerite T. Findlay as a member of the Park Board was increased to $148.50 from $135 under the recent ten per cent hike granted city employees.

The council voted to construct a portable reviewing stand for use in the Industrial Exposition and future events. Cost will not exceed $495 and estimates are being asked by the city engineer.

Commissioner John J. Long expressed the hope this would be the end of spending for the exposition by the city. He pointed out a $2,500 donation had been made and last year $5,000 was provided for industrial promotion.

Sr. Angela Honored On Feast Day

Sister Angela, superintendent of Sacred Heart Hospital, was honored on her feast day, Thursday by the students of the school of nursing.

Coming here from the Sister's Hospital, Buffalo, N. Y., Sister Angela arrived here September 1947, replacing Sister Vincent Marie, who died October 22. A member of the American College of Hospital Administrators, Sister Angela received her training at St. Vincent's Hospital, Jacksonville, Fla., and has also served in Sister of Charity hospitals in Pensacola, Fla., Baltimore, and Buffalo, N. Y.

Greetings were extended to Sister Angela by Miss Norma Artinghelli, president of the class of 1953, Miss Mary Esther O'Rourke, class of 1955 presented, "Another Year Is Dawning," Miss Shirley Ann Wallace, class of 1953, "Bi-focals;" Miss Elizabeth Frances Parks, class of 1955, "Cats;" Miss Kathryn Elaine O'Rourke, class of 1954, "Fishing;" Miss Wilma Jean Poling, class of 1953 gave a monologue, "The Joys of Ill Health;" and Miss Carolyn Ann Karlowa, a paraphrase, "Take God Along with You."

Musical numbers included a piano duet, "Ben Hur Chariot Race," Miss Mary Margaret King and Miss Helen Thompson, both of the class of 1954; "Ava Maria," with Miss Dorothy Ann Marshall, vocalist; and Miss Helen Thompson, pianist; Miss Mary Margaret King violinist, all of class of 1954; and Miss Josephine Dorn, violinist, class of 1955. The Glee Club of 1952 sang, "Carolina Moon," and "Serenade of the Bells," under the direction of Mrs. Richard W. Trevisakis, Sr.

A speciality dance was given by Miss Mary Jo Shirley. Miss Mary Esther Miller, vice president of the Children of Mary society, presented a spiritual bouquet to Sister Angela. The program concluded with the student chorus singing, "Mother Beloved," and "Hail, Sacred Heart School."

Projects Selected

Plans to sell Christmas trees, paint classrooms and assist in purchasing radiator covers for the church, were formulated at the meeting of the Progressive class of First Christian Church, recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Sills, Hill Street. Eugene Pyle presided and Mrs. Helen Horvay was named chairman for the painting. Otis Bennett was welcomed as a member and the amount of dues were chosen. The program included group singing and a reading by Mrs. Gladys Sills. Prizes for games were won by Mrs. Bette Young, Mrs. Elaine Pyle, Robert Young and Joseph Horvay.

World Community Day To Be Observed By Women Nov. 7

The Cumberland Council of Church Women will collect the "Packets for Peace," at the annual World Community Day program being held November 7.

Mrs. L. G. Bridges, president of the council, is to preside at the dinner meeting being held at 6 o'clock in Centre Street Methodist Church.

Following a worship service the program will feature a panel discussion on world peace by members of the Cumberland Branch of the American Association of University Women. Then there will be the consecration service for the "Packets for Peace."

Miss Twila Willison is chairman of the World Community Day program in which women from 30 churches of Cumberland, the suburbs and Ridgeley take part. Mrs. Bridges said last night that the women have been busy this past summer packing layettes and children's clothes for small youngsters they will never see.

She points out that the children closer to home are being cared for in dozens of ways, in community centers, children's homes, juvenile court, hospitals, and playgrounds. There is one day a year, she adds, that they dedicate to children, and to all those in need, in other countries.

That day is the first Friday of November. They will bring their bundles of infants' and small children's clothing to the World Community Day church service to be dedicated as their gifts for world peace. They will also make their yearly offering, to be used this year partly for medicines and vitamins for children overseas, partly to support their own "Christian Woman's Action program for Lasting Peace."

Packets are to include used clothing in good condition for children up to six years of age. Most needed articles are warm underwear, sweaters, snow suits, simple dresses and coats for girls, pants, blouses and coats for boys.

Layette are much wanted and should include receiving blankets, kimonoes, gowns, diapers, baby shirts, socks, rubber sheeting for crib, quilted pad for crib, bath towels, face clothes, face towels and mattress sheets.

17 Members Of Woman's Civic Club In Girl Scouting

Numerous members of the Woman's Civic Club have served as leaders, committee women and council members of the Cumberland Council of Girl Scouts, Mrs. Charles L. Kopp, president of the former club said last night in reference to the appeal to members of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs to become leaders of Girl Scout and Campfire Girl troops.

Members of the Woman's Civic Club who are still active in scouting are Mrs. William M. Somerville, Mrs. Gerard Everstine, Mrs. A. M. Sploch, Mrs. Wilbur Bishop, Mrs. Morris Barnes, Mrs. William R. Carscaden, Mrs. Delisle Chaney, Mrs. Norman Geatz, Mrs. A. M. Hutcheson, Mrs. Joseph Naughton, Mrs. Harold Smith, Mrs. J. M. Coulchan, Mrs. Cecil D. Johnson, Mrs. Lynn Lashley, Mrs. Joseph M. Miller, Mrs. Lucile Roeder and Mrs. W. P. Wendt.

In making the appeal for leaders, Mrs. Oscar A. Ahlgren Whiting, Indiana, president of the federation, said, "We have two great agencies, the Girl Scouts and the Campfire Girls, which are giving girls many opportunities they would not otherwise have. Soon after the opening of school, these groups start their meetings, and I am thinking of them in these days, and hoping that the year ahead will provide them the necessary equipment to direct their lives into the proper channels. The future of America, in the long run, depends upon the youth of America."

Remembering when she was a Girl Scout leader, the number of girls waiting to join troops when there were enough leaders Mrs. Ahlgren reminds the women these two organizations are character building organizations and appeals to them to respond and help the supply of leaders for the troops.

17 Members Of Woman's Civic Club In Girl Scouting

Numerous members of the Woman's Civic Club have served as leaders, committee women and council members of the Cumberland Council of Girl Scouts, Mrs. Charles L. Kopp, president of the former club said last night in reference to the appeal to members of the General Federation of Women's Clubs to become leaders of Girl Scout and Campfire Girl troops.

Members of the Woman's Civic Club who are still active in scouting are Mrs. William M. Somerville, Mrs. Gerard Everstine, Mrs. A. M. Sploch, Mrs. Wilbur Bishop, Mrs. Morris Barnes, Mrs. William R. Carscaden, Mrs. DeLisle Chaney, Mrs. Norman Geatz, Mrs. A. M. Hutcheson, Mrs. Joseph Naughton, Mrs. Harold Smith, Mrs. J. M. Coul- ehan, Mrs. Cecil D. Johnson, Mrs. Lynn Lashley, Mrs. Joseph M. Miller, Mrs. Lucile Roeder and Mrs. W. P. Wendt.

In making the appeal for leaders, Mrs. Oscar A. Ahlgren Whiting, Indiana, president of the federation, said, "We have two great agencies, the Girl Scouts and the Campfire Girls, which are giving girls many opportunities they would not otherwise have. Soon after the opening of school, these groups start their meetings, and I am thinking of them in these days, and hoping that the year ahead will provide them the necessary equipment to direct their lives into the proper channels. The future of America, in the long run, depends upon the youth of America."

Remembering when she was a Girl Scout leader, the number of girls waiting to join troops when there were enough leaders Mrs. Ahlgren reminds the women these two organizations are character building organizations and appeals to them to respond and help the supply of leaders for the troops.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 6 (INS) — The very first picture that the sensational young English actor, Richard Burton, will make for 20th Century Fox is "The Desert Fox." This is the reverse of "Desert Fox," the story of Rommel, which raised such a controversy that Darryl Zanuck had to hire extra secretaries to answer the mail.

Darryl wasn't home from Europe five minutes before he took a look at "My Cousin Rachel" and Richard, and, bingo, signed the boy for 10 pictures on an exclusive contract. This all happened Saturday, before Burton and his wife took off for England.

"Desert Rat," the backgrounds of which have already been shot in Africa, goes before the cameras the tenth of next month, with capable young Robert L. Jacks producing and Robert Weiss directing.

I hadn't laid eyes on Janie Wyman nor had I talked to her for over a week, which is most unusual, because somehow in this busy town we always manage to get together, but I heard some very good news about my girl friend.

Janie is to have Ray Milland as the co-star of her Columbia picture, "Love Song."

After seeing Ray in "The Thief," which is the best thing he's done since his Academy Award winning "Lost Weekend," any actress is lucky to have him. I thought that even before "The Thief," but now I know for sure.

When Lex Barker goes in business for himself he'll have to stop night clubbing every night with a different girl. Could be because he hasn't quite gotten Arlene Dahl out of his system.

Lex's first independent film venture, "The Black Pearl," will be produced by Tony Barley. Tony, who is married, as you know, to Deborah Kerr, is making all arrangements to film this in Tahiti early in 1953.

Another movie Mr. Tarzan makes for Tony is "The White Hunter," to be filmed in Africa. Looks like Tarzan will do a bit of traveling.

Frank Ross tells me that Andrew (Bundy) Solt has come up with a great idea for a TV series for Joan Caulfield (Mrs. Ross).

Said Frank, "Bundy's suggestion is that we do 'Arabian Nights' and that Joan play Scheherazade, the girl who has to save her life each day by telling the sultan a different story."

"Joan will tell the story and star in it. We plan to have the Jack Cole dancers and Yma Sumac, the singer. The chances for such a series are limitless. Think of it, we wouldn't have to plan a story each week—just take it out of the 'Arabian Nights'."

I keep hearing that Anita Bjork, Sweden's top dramatic actress, no like our Hollywood, was brought here for a role in "I Confess," the Alfred Hitchcock picture, and then was sent back to Sweden, which irked her and which is understandable since her latest picture, "Miss Julie" had a long run in New York.

Anyway, Anita, now back in Stockholm, has been giving out sizzling interviews against this town.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

It isn't surprising that Clark Gable did nothing about Kathleen Winsor's book, "The Lovers," after he read it. If it's filmed it would have to be filmed on asbestos, it's so hot.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK—(INS)—In no other field of endeavor is one more conscious of the passage of time than in sports. Age becomes a fetish. The participant does not even burn a candle at both ends, no matter what you read. It's a Roman candle, really, and it doesn't matter much whether he lights the ends or not. It uses up itself in a hurry. If you don't believe so, read the sports historians.

Along with others in their forties, fifties and sixties who congregated for the World Series, I've been composing wistful eulogies to a man named John Mize, though he is rarely called John Mize. He is called Old Jawn, as if he were a supernumerary in a dramatization of an obscure script by Harriet Beecher Stowe. He is also identified as decrepit, ancient, bone-creaking, lumbering, apoplectic, and in the deepest portion of the twilight of his career.

Mize is 39. I wish I were. Wallis Warfield Simpson was 39 when she married the Duke of Windsor, and this was considered the ultimate in romance. Most of the heroic male stars of Hollywood and Broadway are 39 or better. Even Jack Benny, according to a peachy source, has reached 39. But we talk of Mize as not far removed from being a contemporary of Methuselah, and considerably closer to the rocking chair and slippers than, say, Bernard M. Baruch.

John, a lot of us decided as the series went along, is a throwback. That means he is better than the boys he is playing with. Anything that goes back a few years in sports is automatically better. The Louis of 1937 could have licked Marciano at his best; the Dempsey of 1919 could have chased Tunney out of the ring, the Sullivan of the era before Corbett could have beaten Mr. Brisbane's Gorilla. The 1927 Yankees could have beaten anything—including Persian rugs.

The present baseball clubs, the press box and other sources are ready to conclude, just do not measure up to snuff. And it's easy to agree, if that conclusion is drawn by articulate oldsters. They make the men of a few years back sound more virile.

At Toots' place the other night, Mickey Cochrane was telling a story about Lefty Grove pitching against Ty Cobb near the end of Cobb's career and before Ty joined the Philadelphia Athletics. Cobb was abusing the then young Grove to such an extent that Grove decided to kill him with a pitch, or at least commit mayhem.

Not many pitchers in baseball history could throw a ball as fast as Grove's. The one he directed at (or in the general direction of) Cobb's head might have brained a less agile man. But it did succeed in hitting the peak of Cobb's hat and spinning the cap around on his head.

Cobb was furious and dared Grove to throw one near the plate. . . . and if you do I'll knock it down your throat. Grove did, and Cobb hit a line drive to center that all but took off one of Lefty's ears.

Earl Whitehill, a solid man who won Washington's only game against the Giants in the 1933 series, and by a shutout, was reminded at the same time of a feud between the great Washington relief pitcher, Fred Marberry, and Al Simmons, one of the most remarkable hitters of them all.

Marberry was ordered to pass Simmons purposely one day, because of the emptiness of first base and the presence on second and third of runners. The standard practice, of course, is to lob four soft ones far to one side of the plate. But Marberry knocked Simmons into the dirt with four bean balls.

There are a lot of other stories one hears around World Series time, including the bit about the time Babe Ruth broke a pitcher's leg in a spring training game with a line drive because he was offended by the fellow's throwing at his head.

All stories have to do with the superiority of men a few years back. There must always have been thus. There will come a day when the kids who saw the 1952 World Series will look on the events of their maturity and scoff derisively as they harken back to players who are now being condemned as softies.

by John Robert Powers

A charming manner of speaking wins votes for the politician, fans you can be fairly sure that you for the actor and orders for the businessman.

A lovely voice speaking attractive ideas will hold a woman's admirer enthralled far longer than her looks. From a man's viewpoint, voice appeal is a prime requisite in a woman. There is no question but that a charming manner of speaking is worth working for. And it can be attained no other way. Even though you now have one, it like a good complexion, can wither from neglect and must be constantly tended if you wish to continue counting it among your treasured possessions.

One telling quality of speech is the tempo at which your words fall. An habitually rapid-fire or snail's pace robs your thoughts of interest and your voice of appeal. Both the words and music of your conversation can jangle your hearers. Keeping your voice listenable requires control.

hand, when your conversational partners interject words into your pauses, or lapse in their attention, you can seriously question whether you habitually give a halting performance.

You can consciously slow down or speed up according to your need. Also, try to vary your tempo to fit the mood of your words — fast for gay and slow for serious. Like almost everything else in this world, the tempo of your speech becomes more attractive when you vary it.

Penalty Exacted
To achieve the goal, concentrate while you converse. Improvement is assured if you devote ten minutes a day for several months to reading aloud. Choose subject matter that covers the emotions from giddy to profound. You can consider your self fairly proficient when you can rattle off "that's the loveliest hat I've seen" and in the next breath switch to a stately tempo as you console "I'm so sorry that your mother is ill."

Perhaps you know this pause-giving quote: "Mend your voice a little, lest you mar your fortunes." It's an added reason for taking care!

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE
You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice—one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success—by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness and lack of proper modulation. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coins, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

George Sanders says that although Zsa Zsa Gabor had three offers to remain abroad after she finishes "Moulin Rouge," she's flying straight back to him. Looks as if everything's going to be beautiful with Zsa Zsa and George.

Hope all those stories from Paris aren't true that Aly Kahn is seen with other girls, and Rita with other escorts, and that every time they go out they stage a battle.

I'd say Brooks Randall is aiming high. He wants Ava Gardner for the Estelle Taylor role in "The Life of Jack Dempsey." Randall also owns the Jean Harlow and Russ Columbo stories.

Area Defense Pacts Total Over 9 Million

Government contracts awarded in the Cumberland area since the start of the Korean war in 1950 total $9,361,439, according to Mrs. Stella Werner, candidate for Congress from the Sixth District of Maryland on the Democratic ticket.

The Department of Defense lists $5,672,000 for the Hercules Powder Company, which operates the Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory at Pinto; $1,893,504 for the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company; $12,200 for the Celanese Corporation of America and $1,783,735 for the John I. Vandegrift Company for a construction contract.

These figures do not include subcontracts placed in the Celanese plant by prime contractors, on which figures are not available.

Public Is Invited To Visit Fire Houses

Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long told the Mayor and Council of Fire Prevention Week yesterday and issued an invitation to citizens to visit the four fire houses.

Long said firemen were also making inspections of all schools and hospitals.

hand, when your conversational partners interject words into your pauses, or lapse in their attention, you can seriously question whether you habitually give a halting performance.

You can consciously slow down or speed up according to your need. Also, try to vary your tempo to fit the mood of your words — fast for gay and slow for serious. Like almost everything else in this world, the tempo of your speech becomes more attractive when you vary it.

Penalty Exacted To achieve the goal, concentrate while you converse. Improvement is assured if you devote ten minutes a day for several months to reading aloud. Choose subject matter that covers the emotions from giddy to profound. You can consider yourself fairly proficient when you can rattle off "that's the loveliest hat I've seen" and in the next breath switch to a statelier tempo as you console "I'm so sorry that your mother is ill."

Perhaps you know this pause-giving quote: "Mend your voice a little, lest you mar your fortunes." It's an added reason for taking care!

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice—one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success—by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness and lack of proper modulation. Yankees Rally To Win Sixth Game, 3-2, And Even Series

Allie Reynolds Saves Raschi In Relief Job

Loes Loses Game On Balk; Snider Poles Two Homers

By JACK HAND

BROOKLYN, Oct. 6 (AP) — Vic Raschi and Allie Reynolds double-teamed Brooklyn with an 11-strike-out job today to send this homer happy World Series into a seventh game with a 3-2 New York Yankee victory.

Two tremendous home runs by Duke Snider weren't enough to match the desperate Yanks who fought back to tie the series for the third time.

The seventh and final game will be played at Ebbets Field tomorrow with the possibility that Reynolds and Joe Black of the Dodgers may meet for a third time. Black was the victor in the first game but Reynolds triumphed in the fourth. Both are right handed throwers.

Berra, Mantle Homer

Yogi Berra and Mickey Mantle ripped into 22-year-old Billy Loes for homers and Raschi provided the other run with a single that bounced off Loes' left knee and rolled into short right field, scoring Gene Woodling in the two-run seventh.

But Manager Casey Stengel, struggling to keep alive his dreams of a fourth straight world championship, had to call in Reynolds to save the fast-throwing Raschi in the eighth inning.

Snider's second homer of the day and fourth of the series — tying records held by Lou Gehrig and Babe Ruth — slashed the Yank lead to 3-2 in the eighth. After George Shuba rammed a two-out double to tie the wall in left-center, old Casey brought on his super chief from the bullpen.

With the tying run on second and one out, Reynolds worked on Roy Campanella and poured a third strike past his swinging bat.

The Yankee ace, coming back after his brilliant four-hit shutout Saturday, also fanned pinch-hitter Rocky Nelson to start the ninth. Then he weakened momentarily.

Carl Furillo Walks

Carl Furillo walked on a 3-2 count and Andy Pafko ran it up to 3-1 before he popped to Phil Rizzuto. Reynolds squashed Dodge's hopes by making Billy Cox roll to Gil McDougald for the final out.

The homers by Snider, Berra and Mantle brought the series' total to 14, high for any kind of a World Series. No telling how many more may sail into Bedford Avenue or the beckoning left field seats in tomorrow's big seventh game for the jackpot.

Raschi pitched a brilliant game, striking out nine men before he weakened in the eighth and walking only one. With the help of the Chief he received credit for his fifth series win.

The 33-year-old righthander richly deserved the verdict. Three times he had Gil Hodges swinging like the old garden gate. Hodges is hitless in the series. He has been at bat 17 times. Shuba went down swinging twice and Cox, Loes, Carl Furillo and Jackie Robinson each took one strikeout.

Snider Hits Homer

Locked in a 0-0 duel with young Loes for five innings, Raschi gave way first when Snider hammered his first pitch of the sixth inning over the right field screen. The ball sailed over the wall some 325 feet away and bounced gaily into a parking lot across the street.

The lead was short-lived for Berra led off the Yank seventh by driving a 2-2 pitch over the same right field barrier. Furillo, in rightfield, hardly bothered to turn his head because the ball was ticketed from the time it left the bat.

When Woodling followed with a ground single over second base, the pressure was heavy on Loes, the bonus kid, from Astoria, N. Y. Irvin Noren worked the count to 1-1. As Loes stretched and looked toward first base, the ball popped out of the webbing of his glove and fell to the ground for an automatic balk.

Noren eventually struck out and Billy Martin popped up. Raschi came through with a sharp single off Loes' left knee into short right scoring Woodling. If it had not been for the balk, Woodling would not have scored.

Reynolds Retires Side

The teams came to the last of the eighth with the Yankees ahead, 3-1, after Mantle rocketed a 385-foot lead-off homer into the lower stands in left-center.

Then the Dodgers suddenly came to life. With one gone, Snider poled a long home run over the scoreboard in right field.

Reynolds started to throw hard in the bullpen with the lead narrowed to 3-2. Raschi got Woodling to loft the first pitch to Woodling in left field but Shuba stroked a double.

That was all for big Vic and Reynolds came marching in from the left field bullpen to face Campanella. A ball, two strikes, a foul and then the whiff... that did it.

AHS Jayvees Trounce Beall Junior, 21-0

Bucky Rice Scores Twice For Winners

Bucky Rice, fleet little halfback, scored two touchdowns for the Allegany High School Jayvees as the Campobello Juniors turned back Beall High's Jayvees yesterday at Frostburg, 21-0.

Following a scoreless first quarter Allegany took a Beall punt on the AHS 40 and marched the rest of the way for the initial score. Rice tallied the six-pointer on a naked reverse which covered 35 yards; the play completely fooling the Beall defense. Allen Haines kicked the point and Allegany led 7-0 at halftime.

The Campobello eleven, coached by Jim Hosack, banged across once more in the third stanza following a pass interception at midfield. Several plays carried to the Beall 29. Haines went around end to the 15 where he lateraled to Rice who ran the remaining distance for the score. The point was missed.

In the fourth stanza the Junior Campers, who were unbeaten last season, led their opening victory for 1952 with a touchdown and safety, the former coming on Don Perdue's buck through the middle that went for 52 yards and the td. Rice's kick later in the period sailed over the Beall safety man's head and when he attempted to pick the rolling ball up accidentally knocked it out of bounds through the end zone for an automatic safety.

Outstanding defensively for the winners, who stopped Beall's running attack cold were Elser Mills, and Breedlove while Rice was the main cog in the Campers' running attack. Cook was best for Beall with his sharp passing to Hawkins accounting for much of Beall's yardage and Wolford, Lowery, and Kegan were best on the line.

Next Monday the Little Campers will play host to the Keyser High Jayvees at Campobello. Game time will be 3:30 p. m. The lineups:

WINNING QUARTET—Here are the New York Yankees whose combined efforts trumped the Brooklyn Dodgers' bid to win the 1952 World Series in six games yesterday by turning back the National League champions, 3-2, at Ebbets Field. The Yankee victory evened the series at three games apiece. In front are Allie Reynolds (left), who came on in relief in the eighth inning to save starter Vic Raschi's (right) fifth World Series win. To the rear are grinning Yogi Berra (left) and Mickey Mantle, each of whom walloped a homerun in the Yankee cause.

Navy Back Out With Bad Hip

Fisher's Injury Causes Changes

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Tailback Don Fisher's wounded hip that may sideline him for the week watered down today the celebrating aftermath of Navy's second consecutive football victory.

Academy medical men said a severe muscle bruise may put the 170-pound running and passing threat on the bench when the Mid-East tackle what shapes up as their sternest test yet against William and Mary this Saturday.

Fisher's injury occurred in the third period of the 31-7 smashing of Cornell last Saturday.

Bill Robinson, a graduate of 150-pound football, completed the game in the key left halfback role in Coach Eddie Erdelatz's single wing-box attack. He handled the job well, and, if Fisher can't amble, has the best chance of starting against William and Mary.

Trying to fortify the position, Erdelatz today switched Sophomore Bob Hepworth from right half to tailback. Hepworth was leading scorer and ground game for the undefeated Pies last autumn, running from the T formation. He has operated from the wing in Navy's new offense since being drawn from the junior varsity two weeks before the season opened.

The Chancellors swept three games from the Records last night on the Club Alleys in the Knights of Columbus Bowling League to slip into second place behind the Guards who won two of three from the Grand Knights.

The loss dropped the Records into last place in the four-team circuit. The Guards lead with a 9-2 record.

Gene McGreevy of the Grand Knights hit the high set of the new season with a 204-573 total. High for the Chancellors was Tom McGeady's 533, Jack Lobel's 526 for the Guards, and Joe Felton's 471 for the Records. The standings:

Black To Make 3rd Series Start In Today's Tilt

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (INS)—Joe Black will start his third World Series game for the Brooklyn Dodgers in the final contest against the Yankees at Ebbets Field tomorrow.

Yankee Manager Casey Stengel said immediately following today's game he was "undecided" about his starter for tomorrow.

Yankees Top Red Sox To Win Midland Title

MIDLAND, Oct. 6—The Yankees defeated the Red Sox 9 to 7 on the Midland ball diamond to annex the Little League playoff title in the third and deciding game of their best-of-three series.

Walkinschmidt smashed a homerun with the bases loaded to spark in the Yankee drive while Hawkins and Myers each collected two hits for the winners.

Hobell hit for the cycle for the losers with a homerun, triple, double and single. The score:

Wisconsin Gets First Place Nod On Grid Ballots

Michigan State In Second, Terps 4th

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—Wisconsin's poised Badgers, the current favorites to capture the Big Ten crown, took over first place in the Associated Press' football poll today as the result of their impressive victory over Illinois and Michigan State's tight battle with Oregon State.

The Badgers jumped up from eighth place by whipping Illinois' Rose Bowl champs, 20-6, while Michigan State needed a field goal in the final two seconds to edge Oregon State, 17-14. State, the pre-season pick of the experts to finish the season as the No. 1 team, fell from their first place perch to second.

Illinois Drops to 13th

Illinois, second a week ago, dropped clear out of the top ten to 13th place.

Wisconsin received 27 first place nominations from the panel of 138 sportswriters and sportscasters from coast to coast and a total of 1,128 points on the 10-9-8, etc. basis. The next three, Michigan State (24), California (23) and Maryland (22) collected almost as many first place votes but not as heavy support for second and third places.

State amassed 980 points, while California harvested 961 and Maryland 834.

Texas, fifth last week, plunged right out of the top 20 following their 14-3 loss to Notre Dame in Austin. The Fighting Irish, 19th a week ago, jumped to eighth place. Princeton, 61-19 conquerors of Rutgers, advanced from 13th to tenth.

In other shuffles of the leaders, California and Maryland swapped third and fourth places with the Far Westerners grabbing the higher place. The Golden Bears invaded Minneapolis and blasted the Gophers, 49-13. Maryland whipped Clemson 28-0 in a battle of Southern Conference ineligibles.

Duke, Tech Move Up

Georgia Tech topped Southern Methodist, 20-7, and moved from sixth to fifth. Duke jumped from tenth to sixth on its sharp 7-0 win over Tennessee.

Seventh-place Southern California and ninth-ranked Kansas held the same ratings as a week ago. Southern Cal blanked Army, 22-0. Kansas downed Colorado 21-12.

The leaders (points based on ten for first, nine for second, etc., with first place votes in parentheses):

1. Wisconsin (27)	1128
2. Michigan State (24)	980
3. California (23)	961
4. Maryland (22)	834
5. Georgia Tech (21)	734
6. Duke (12)	630
7. Southern California (6)	493
8. Notre Dame (3)	352
9. Kansas (3)	320
10. Princeton (3)	284
The second ten
11. UCLA	221
12. Oklahoma (1)	183
13. Illinois	137
14. Villanova	132
15. Virginia	128
16. Purdue	98
17. Navy	84
18. Alabama	82
19. Georgia	40
20. Penn State (1)	38
Others getting votes: Baylor, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas Christian, Holy Cross, Ohio State, Nebraska, Mississippi, Oregon State, Syracuse, Texas, South Carolina, Kentucky, Tulsa, Houston, Wake Forest, George Washington, Indiana, Tulane, Florida, West Virginia and Washington State.

Three Homerun Marks Put In Books In Series

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (INS)—Here are the world series home run records broken or tied by today's sixth game of the Yankees-Dodgers world series:

Most home runs, both clubs, series: 14 (old record 12).

Most home runs, individual, series: 4 by Duke Snider, Dodgers (ties old record held jointly by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig).

Yankees Rally To Win Sixth Game, 3-2, And Even Series

Allie Reynolds Saves Raschi In Relief Job

Loes Loses Game On Balk; Snider Poles Two Homers

By JACK HAND

BROOKLYN, Oct. 6 (AP)—Vic Raschi and Allie Reynolds double-teamed Brooklyn with an 11-strikeout job today to send this homer happy World Series into a seventh game with a 3-2 New York Yankee victory.

Two tremendous home runs by Duke Snider weren't enough to match the desperate Yanks who fought back to tie the series for the third time.

The seventh and final game will be played at Ebbets Field tomorrow with the possibility that Reynolds and Joe Black of the Dodgers may meet for a third time. Black was the victor in the first game but Reynolds triumphed in the fourth. Both are right handed throwers.

Berra, Mantle Homer

Yogi Berra and Mickey Mantle ripped into 22-year-old Billy Loes for homers and Raschi provided the other run with a single that bounced off Loes' left knee and rolled into short right field, scoring Gene Woodling in the two-run seventh.

But Manager Casey Stengel, struggling to keep alive his dreams of a fourth straight world championship, had to call in Reynolds to save the fast-tiring Raschi in the eighth inning.

Snider's second homer of the day and fourth of the series—tying records held by Lou Gehrig and Babe Ruth—slashed the Yank lead to 3-2 in the eighth. After George Shuba rammed a two-out double to tie the wall in left-center, old Casey brought on his super chief from the bullpen.

With the tying run on second and one out, Reynolds worked on Roy Campanella and poured a third strike past his swinging bat.

The Yankee ace, coming back after his brilliant four-hit shutout Saturday, also fanned pinch-hitter Rocky Nelson to start the ninth. Then he weakened momentarily.

Carl Furillo Walks

Carl Furillo walked on a 3-2 count and Andy Pafo ran it up to 3-1 before he popped to Phil Rizzuto. Reynolds squashed Dodger hopes by making Billy Cox roll to Gil McDougald for the final out.

The homers by Snider, Berra and Mantle brought the series' total to 14, high for any kind of a World Series. No telling how many more may sail into Bedford Avenue or the beckoning left field seats in tomorrow's big seventh game for the jackpot.

Raschi pitched a brilliant game, striking out nine men before he weakened in the eighth and walking only one. With the help of the Chief he received credit for his fifth series win.

The 33-year-old right-hander richly deserved the verdict. Three times he had Gil Hodges swinging like the old garden gate. Hodges is hitless in the series. He has been at bat 17 times. Shuba went down swinging twice and Cox, Loes, Carl Furillo and Jackie Robinson each took one strikeout.

Snider Hits Homer

Locked in a 0-0 duel with young Loes for five innings, Raschi gave way first when Snider hammered 11s first pitch of the sixth inning over the right field screen. The ball sailed over the wall some 325 feet away and bounced gaily into a parking lot across the street.

The lead was short-lived for Berra led off the Yank seventh by driving a 2-2 pitch over the same right field barrier. Furillo, in rightfield, hardly bothered to turn his head because the ball was ticketed from the time it left the bat.

When Woodling followed with a ground single over second base, the pressure was heavy off Loes, the bonus kid, from Astoria, N. Y. Irvin Noren worked the count to 1-1. As Loes stretched and looked toward first base, the ball popped out from the webbing of his glove and fell to the ground for an automatic balk.

Noren eventually struck out and Billy Martin popped up. Raschi came through with a sharp single off Loes' left knee into short right scoring Woodling. If it had not been for the balk, Woodling would not have scored.

Reynolds Retires Side

The teams came to the last of the eighth with the Yankees ahead, 3-1, after Mantle rocketed a 385-foot lead-off homer into the lower stands in left-center.

Then the Dodgers suddenly came to life. With one gone, Snider poled a long home run over the scoreboard in right field.

Reynolds started to throw hard in the bullpen with the lead narrowed to 3-2. Raschi got Robinson to left the first pitch to Woodling in left field but Shuba stroked a double.

That was all for big Vic and Reynolds came marching in from the left field bullpen to face Campanella. A ball, two strikes, a foul and then the whifferoo... that did it.

Blind Bogie Tourney

The ladies golf association of the Cumberland Country Club will hold a blind bogie tournament at the club today. Carroll Boggs, golf pro, announced last night.

The Beyrouth racetrack in Lebanon has no outside fence and the grandstand is made of marble.

WINNING QUARTET—Here are the New York Yankees whose combined efforts trumped the Brooklyn Dodgers' bid to win the 1952 World Series in six games yesterday by turning back the National League champions, 3-2, at Ebbets Field. The Yankee victory evened the series at three games apiece. In front are Allie Reynolds (left), who came on in relief in the eighth inning to save starter Vic Raschi's (right) fifth World Series win. To the rear are grinning Yogi Berra (left) and Mickey Mantle, each of whom waloped a homerun in the Yankee cause.

Navy Back Out With Bad Hip

Fisher's Injury Causes Changes

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Tailback Don Fisher's wounded hip that may sideline him for the week watered down today the celebrating aftermath of Navy's second consecutive football victory.

Academy medical men said a severe muscle bruise may put the 170-pound running and passing threat on the bench when the Mid-dies tackle what shapes up as their sternest test yet against William and Mary this Saturday.

Fisher's injury occurred in the third period of the 31-7 smashing of Cornell last Saturday.

Bill Robinson, a graduate of 150-pound football, completed the game in the key left halfback role in Coach Eddie Erdelatz's single wing-back attack. He handled the job well and, if Fisher can't amble, has the best chance of starting against William and Mary.

Trying to fortify the position, Erdelatz today switched Sophomore Bob Heworth from right half to tailback. Heworth was leading scorer and ground gainer for the undefeated Plebes last autumn, running from the T formation. He has operated from the wing in Navy's new offense since being drawn from the junior varsity two weeks before the season opened.

Chancellors Gain In K. C. Dux Loop

The Chancellors swept three games from the Records last night on the Club Alleys in the Knights of Columbus Bowling League to slip into second place behind the Guards who won two of three from the Grand Knights.

The loss dropped the Records into last place in the four-team circuit. The Guards lead with a 9-2 record.

Gene McGreevy of the Grand Knights hit the high set of the new season with a 204-573 total. High for the Chancellors was Tom McGready's 533. Jack Lobel's 526 for the Guards, and Joe Felton's 471 for the Records. The standings:

Black To Make 3rd Series Start In Today's Tilt

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (INS)—Joe Black will start his third World Series game for the Brooklyn Dodgers in the final contest against the Yankees at Ebbets Field tomorrow.

Yankee Manager Casey Stengel said immediately following today's game he was "undecided" about his starter for tomorrow.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear husband, Robert W. Plesk, who passed away 3 years ago today, October 7, 1947.

Dear Bob
Could I only have one gift from God, I would ask you back to life again, to share my happy hours. I used to spend with you. 'Tis long since I have seen you. I was sad to give you up. But God knew best.

Sadly missed by his wife and children

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear husband, Robert W. Piek, who passed away 3 years ago today, October 7, 1947.

Dear Bob,
Could I only have one gift from God, I would ask for you back.
To live again those happy hours I used to spend with you.
I miss you so much without you.
I was sad to give you up.
But God knew best.
Sadly missed by his wife and children.

Stevenson To Visit City

Demo Candidate Schedules Local Stop October 31

Party Leaders Here Lacking Details

Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Democratic candidate for president, is scheduled to appear in Cumberland Friday, October 31, on a return visit to Maryland.

The Stevenson schedule calls for stops at Cumberland and Silver Spring as well as at Martinsburg, W. Va., on the Friday before the election.

No Confirmation

Members of the Allegany County Democratic State Central Committee had no official confirmation last night on the Democratic candidate's planned visit to the Queen City. It was understood that members of the committee discussed the matter at a luncheon yesterday and expressed hope the Illinois governor might make an appearance in Cumberland. They had no definite information about his plans at that time.

One spokesman for the Democratic party said last night that he had received word late in the afternoon that Stevenson would make a whistle-stop here. However, details were lacking.

Another call from Democratic headquarters in Baltimore today is expected to clear up these details.

Democratic headquarters in Baltimore had no further information on Stevenson's visit. However, officials said they will propose the stop listed at Silver Spring be made into a big rally at College Park. At present, the Maryland appearances are listed only as whistle-stops to be followed the same day by talks in Wilmington, Del., and Brooklyn, N. Y.

Stevenson appeared only in Baltimore on his original invasion of Maryland Sept. 23. He spoke to 6,500 at the Fifth Regiment Armory and to a breakfast gathering of party workers.

His opponent, Dwight D. Eisenhower, came in two days later and made appearances at Cumberland, Martinsburg and Silver Spring before making a major speech in Baltimore. Last week, his running mate, Sen. Nixon, followed up with talks at Salisbury, Annapolis, Dundalk, Aberdeen and Elkton.

No Maryland appearance is scheduled for the Democratic vice presidential nominee, Sen. Sparkman. However, the party has scheduled a speech for Sen. Kefauver D-Tenn in either Towson or Baltimore on October 25.

Kiser To Attend FFA Convention

Byron Kiser, a senior at Beall High School in Frostburg and an active member of the Future Farmers of America chapter there, has been selected as Allegany County's delegate to the 25th annual National FFA Convention which will be held in Kansas City next week.

James H. House, supervisor of vocational agriculture in the county school, said that Kiser was selected on the basis of citizenship, leadership and the projects he has carried out on his farm located just north of Frostburg.

The State FFA group will provide $45 to assist Kiser in his convention trip. In addition, the county will provide about $5 per FFA chapter.

Kiser will leave Cumberland Sunday on a Baltimore and Ohio train. He will join the 33-member Maryland FFA delegation including representatives from virtually every one of the 23 counties.

Check Artist Being Held

Cumberland authorities' description of a bad check artist which passed $250 worth of bogus checks here, was responsible for his capture yesterday in Baltimore.

Maryland State Police said Munford Roberts, a Negro, was picked up yesterday in Baltimore and charged with forging checks.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lila yesterday sent detainees to Baltimore in connection with Roberts' local escape.

Lila said a neatly-dressed and rather "smooth" Negro, clad in an Army uniform with Technical Sergeant's rating patches, and a Negro woman companion, also smartly dressed passed four bad checks at several local business establishments the latter part of last month.

The checks were discovered several days later when a number of local merchants reported four checks had "bounced."

An immediate investigation launched by Lila revealed that a taxi driver had seen the pair and was able to give a detailed description.

Lila telephoned the two persons' description to all north eastern states. The description was the first ever gotten of the check artist which was reported operating in Delaware, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

TWUA Meeting Set

The General Committee of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the union hall.

368 Servicemen Already Assured Of Nov. Ballot

Many Residents Seek Absent Vote

At least 368 Allegany County residents who are serving in the armed forces already have made provisions to assure themselves of a vote in the November 4 general election.

Attaches at the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors office in the Court House basement reported yesterday that they already have received applications for absentee ballots from 351 servicemen and women. These applications are first sent to Secretary of State John R. Reeves by the applicants and then are referred to the election board here.

Ballots are mailed out from the county office at the Court House. The applications must be received by the board at least five days before the November 4 election.

Besides these absentee ballots some 17 other servicemen and women who have been home on leave have gone to the office of the County Board of Election Supervisors and already have cast their ballots. State law provides that any serviceman or woman home on leave within 50 days before a general election may go to board office and cast a ballot in the presence of a member of the Board of Election Supervisors. These ballots are placed in sealed envelopes and are not opened until the official canvass after the election.

Applications for absentee ballots may be obtained by a relative of any serviceman or woman at the Board of Election Supervisors office in the Court House basement, at Nelson Russler's place of business, 432 Virginia Avenue, at the office of James Park in Lonaconing, at the office of Frostburg City Clerk Alex G. Close and at the Sanitary Market on Main Street in Westernport.

Atomic Plant May Get Power From PE System

15 Companies Plan To Join Project

The Potomac Edison system is included in a 15-company group of electric utilities scheduled to supply power for the new gaseous diffusion atomic energy plant in Pike County, Ohio, a few miles north of Portsmouth.

If tentative plans are carried out a corporation, probably to be named the Ohio Valley Power Corporation, will be formed by the 15-company group. Authorities say the single block of power would be the greatest to be supplied by any company or group of companies in the electric power industry's history.

The combination has offered to build two new generating plants, costing $400 million, to supply 2,200,000 kilowatts. Of this, 1,800,000 kilowatts would be used directly by the diffusion process. The rest will be a reserve for maintenance and emergency loss of facilities and transmission losses.

Tentative plans for the plant near Portsmouth are to install four 200,000-kilowatt steam turbo-generators, the largest of their kind. Estimated cost is $120 million. A second plant, costing $280 million and producing 1,400,000 kilowatts of power, might be located in southeastern Indiana, near Ohio and Kentucky borders.

Together, the two power plant installations would use about seven-and-one-half million tons of coal to generate about 15 billion kilowatt-hours of energy annually, which is approximately the amount of electricity consumed in one year by Greater New York City.

Participating in the proposal, which awaits AEC acceptance, are Potomac Edison's sister companies in the West Penn Electric system, Monongahela Power of Fairmont, W. Va., and West Penn Power of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Others are the Appalachian Electric Power, Cincinnati Gas and Electric, Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric, Dayton Power and Light, Indiana and Michigan Electric, Kentucky Utilities, Louisville Gas and Electric, Ohio Edison, Ohio Power, Pennsylvania Power of New Castle, Pa., Southern Indiana Gas and Electric and Toledo Edison Companies.

Frostburg Industrial Fund Reaches $60,000

Mayor, Council Plan To Advertise City

Solicitors for the Frostburg Industrial Promotion Corporation have reached the $60,000 mark in their effort to collect $80,000 from area businessmen to build a new building for the city's leading industry.

The report was released last night by David R. Willetts, secretary for the industrial group.

At the same time, Charles F. Hill, chairman of the corporation, appeared before a meeting of the Frostburg Mayor and City Council with a plan for obtaining a new industry for the city.

Armed with a newspaper clipping from a Richmond, Va., newspaper, Hill told members of the City Council that other cities in the United States were turning down new industries while Frostburg is in dire need of new employment possibilities.

Hill showed the newspaper clipping to the Council and explained the story of how the Fredericksburg, Va., Chamber of Commerce turned down a small plant, planning to move there from Brooklyn, N. Y., because of the Virginia city's shortage of labor.

Hill pointed out that if Frostburg could advertise its facilities and surplus of labor, such plants would consider locating here.

The Mayor and Council went on record as approving the plan for advertising Frostburg as a location for industries, and will work out the cost problem of the project with the City Clerk. Since Frostburg has no Chamber of Commerce, cost of such projects must be handled by the City Council.

In addition, Hill said, the Mayor and Council will write to the Fredericksburg Chamber of Commerce for additional information concerning the Brooklyn firm.

Hill said the $60,000 collected to date for construction of a building to house the Berkowitz Pajama Company, includes pledges from workers at the factory.

The Mayor and Council last night appealed to residents of Frostburg to do their best in helping raise the remaining $20,000 needed. The money, which will be used to build a 40,000-square-foot building for the factory, will be matched by a government RFC loan of $80,000.

Hill said the success of the fund drive involves employment for 350 people.

State Educator Visits County

Mrs. Grace A. Dorsey, assistant state superintendent of public schools in charge of elementary education, arrived in Cumberland for a three-day tour of Allegany County schools.

Superintendent Ralph R. Webster said that the three county elementary school supervisors, Miss Jane Botsford, Miss Winifred Greene and Miss Mildred Willison, have arranged a schedule for Mrs. Dorsey.

While here, Mrs. Dorsey will be the principal speaker at a dinner meeting of the local group of American Childhood Education International. This will be held at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday at Frostburg State Teachers College. The new elementary teachers in the county school system will be guests at the meeting.

Nearby W. Va. Communities Get Exposition Invitations

Miss Lorraine Sager, queen-designate for the Greater Cumberland Industrial Exposition, yesterday made a good-will tour of four nearby West Virginia communities to invite people to come to the Exposition next week.

The tour included stops at Ridgeley, Paw Paw, Fort Ashby and Keyser, W. Va., where Miss Sager was a guest at a dinner-meeting of the Keyser-Mineral County Chamber of Commerce.

At Ridgeley, Miss Sager presented an engraved invitation to the exposition to Mayor Frank B. Magruder. Mayor Magruder assured Miss Sager and members of her party that he will attend the Cumberland event and will spread the word among his townpeople.

Presented Apples At Paw Paw, Mayor James Fredrickson thanked Miss Sager for the invitation, and then in turn presented her with a box of apples grown and packed by Consolidated Orchard Company at Paw Paw.

Miss Sager also met Miss Jo Ann Gordon of Paw Paw, who will be one of her attendants in the Exposition Parade next Friday, after Miss Sager is crowned Industrial Queen.

She also was interviewed by Misses Carole Moser and Barbara Gordon, members of the staff of The Pirate Boomerang, Paw Paw High School student newspaper.

Mrs. Margaret Larkin, operator of the Lark Inn, invited the Cumberlanders to dinner at the Inn, but the local group was unable to accept because of previous commitments at Keyser.

At Fort Ashby, Miss Sager presented an invitation to Odell Pyles, president of the volunteer fire company and a former justice of the peace. Pyles introduced the local party to Mrs. Pyles and their two sons, Glen and Gary, and said the Fort Ashby firemen will take part in the Exposition Parade.

The Keyser-Mineral County Chamber of Commerce welcomed Miss Sager and her party at a

Lineman Falls Under Truck On Power Line Job

A power company worker was seriously injured yesterday when he fell beneath the wheels of a work truck near New Germany.

He was identified as Charles Simmons, 26, of Hambleton, W. Va., and was still unconscious late last night at Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland, where he was admitted with serious head injuries.

Doctors, who termed Simmons' condition "serious," said they understood he fell from a crew truck and was dragged for some distance before the truck ran over him.

Simmons recently returned to work after fracturing his neck in a fall while at work last winter. He is a lineman for the Penn Lines Service.

21 Turkeys Killed On Opening Day Of New Season

At least 3,000 hunters were believed to have swarmed into the woods in Allegany County yesterday as the squirrel and wild turkey seasons opened.

More than 2,000 were reported hunting over Green Ridge State Forest and probably another 1,000 were hunting elsewhere in the county.

Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke said it was the largest number of hunters he has noticed in many years for an opening day. He attributed the increase to the addition of wild turkey to the usual squirrel season.

At least 33 hunters from Baltimore City were among the Green Ridge hunters and a surprisingly large number of nimbros from the other end of the state were on hand to try Western Maryland hunting opportunities, Minke said.

Yesterday there were 21 turkeys reported killed with most of them young birds. Squirrel kills were not so heavy and only a few hunters came out of the woods early this morning with their limit of six of the bushy-tailed game.

Minke said he thought other turkeys were killed yesterday and will be reported later. State law allows hunters until October 31, the end of the squirrel and turkey seasons. He expressed a belief that squirrels are scarce because the hickory nut crop is only 25 per cent of normal.

The warden added that only a few cases of hunters with illegal licenses were discovered yesterday. Residents of the District of Columbia and West Virginia were found with Maryland resident licenses.

dinner in the Grace Methodist Church dining room at Keyser. George E. Barger, operator of the Barger Buick Agency in Keyser, was toastmaster.

Miles G. Thompson, a member of the Exposition committee, introduced the Cumberlanders and thanked the Chamber for its hospitality.

In introducing Miss Sager, Thompson said the people of Cumberland and the Tri-State area "owe her a debt of gratitude we can never repay" for her work toward publicizing the Exposition.

Weather

Dark clouds hovering over the Queen City yesterday finally brought a downpour of rain about 8 p. m. lasting for over an hour. Mercury took a drop yesterday with Constitution Park weather station reporting high temperature as 71. Low was 45 degrees and at 8:45 p. m. thermometers leveled at 49. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 67.5 per cent and rainfall shortly before 9 o'clock last night was .20 of an inch. The weatherman says today will be mostly cloudy and cooler with a chance of more rain.

Kiwanis To Hear Stanton

J. L. Stanton, director, Export and Import Bureau, Baltimore Association of Commerce, will be guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club on Thursday, at 12:15 p. m. in Central YMCA. "World Commerce in your Business" will be his topic of discussion.

12 Precincts Now Added In County

90 Polling Places To Be Open Nov. 4

Creation of 12 new precincts has boosted to 90 the number of polling places in Allegany County for the November 4 general election. William A. Wilson, chairman of the County Board of Election Supervisors, reported yesterday.

These new precincts have been formed because the number of registered voters in some precincts has become excessively large. Of the new precincts three are in Cumberland, two in LaVale and one each in Bowling Green, Cresaptown, Westernport, Barton, Frostburg, Mt. Savage and Eckhart.

Republican chief judges for all 12 of the new precincts have been named, Wilson said.

They include Charles G. Smith, 631 Hilltop Drive, for Precinct 4-4, K-Z, at Johnson Heights School; Bessie Baird, 324 Cumberland Street, for 6-2, S-Z, SS. Peter and Paul's Hall; Ivy B. Jones, 699 Gehart Drive, for 6-5, K-Z, Mt. Royal School; Winifred von Kaske, for 3-6, K-Z, Bowling Green Fire Station; Joseph Wenrich, for 7, K-Z, Cresaptown School, and J. William Beck, for 8-1, S-Z, Westernport Fire Hall.

Alson, Forrest Mowbray, for 9, K-Z, Barton Fire Hall; Guy F. Mallow, 68 Hill Street, Frostburg, for 12, K-Z, Hill Street School, Frostburg; Samuel Frankenberg, for 13-1, K-Z, Mt. Savage Community Hall; J. Arthur Weisenborn, for 24, K-Z, Eckhart School; Russell Wagner, for 29-1, K-Z, LaVale Fire Hall, and Mildred Young for 29-2, K-Z, Crystal Park, LaVale.

Wilson said that the chief judges will be sworn in and will receive instructions for the impending election at a meeting at the Court House at 7 p. m. Monday, October 13.

29 Testify As Grand Jurors Begin Functions

Judge Harris Presents Charge

After hearing testimony from 29 witnesses, the grand jury for the October term of Allegany County Circuit Court was excused at 3:15 p. m. yesterday until 9:15 a. m. today when the second day of deliberations into county crime will begin.

Before beginning their investigative work, the 29 grand jurors convened in the court room at 10 a. m. yesterday to hear Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris charge them that they have a "double duty."

"One, a duty to society to see that parties against whom there is just ground to charge the commission of a crime shall be held to answer the charge; and on the other hand, a duty to the citizens to see that he is not subjected to prosecution upon accusations having no better foundation than public clamor or private malice."

Free From Prejudice "You should be free from prejudice," he continued. "A grand jury whose members have preconceived notions or complexes on any given subject can become a public nuisance. In other words be normal; keep your feet on the ground and you will function properly. A good rule to follow is to indict, dismiss, or hold your peace.

"You are not a scolding body. You either have sufficient evidence to indict or you do not. If you do not, you cannot bring in a report exposing an individual or individuals to public opprobrium. In other words, it is not your duty to undertake to regulate, control, or investigate the private affairs or lives or morals of the people of this county unless you have reason to believe their conduct constitutes a violation of the laws of the state."

Following the grand jury charge the docket for the October term of court was called. The grand jurors went into session and court attaches said they would probably meet for the next three days.

Headed By Steiner The grand jury is headed by George K. Steiner, general manager of the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company.

Other members are Edward Haeb, Oliver Bosley, Oscar Gurley, James M. E. Kelley, Melvin Kight, Glenn K. Davis, Angus L. Brown, Jesse C. Garvin, George S. Kotschewer, Willard A. Adams, L. Roy Kimmes and Keith T. Sisk, all of Cumberland.

James Richmond, Lonaconing; Marshall Neilson, John L. Richmond and W. Kenneth Crowe, Frostburg; Colin Graham, Mt. Savage; Harry W. Martz, Ellerslie; Harry W. Seaber and Melvin Kight, Westernport; James Walker, LaVale; Charles F. Eckhart, Eckhart; and William A. Wilson, Midland.

The petit jurors will report for duty October 20 at 9:15 a. m.

City Tax Collections Exceed $280,000

Collections of 1952-53 taxes are already past the quarter million dollar mark.

During six collection days in September, the City Tax Office took in $200,660.60 in taxes, including $198,980.06 of 1952 taxes. Another $85,000 of 1952 taxes was collected last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for a total of $283,000.

September collections, according to a report from City Collector George E. Davis, totaled $245,399.23

Lt. Humphries Dies Of Injuries In Auto Mishap

Air Force Officer One Of Two Killed

Lt. Malcolm Harold Humphries, 22, husband of the former Miss Eleanor Lee Tolson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Howard Lee Tolson, 885 Braddock Road, was one of two persons who died following an auto-truck collision Saturday night near Sealy Tex.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Robert Humphries, who reside in Charleroi, Pa. Lt. Humphries and Miss Tolson were married here in the First Presbyterian Church on December 22, 1949. They had no children.

Lt. Humphries, who is a member of the United States Air Force, was reportedly driving an automobile with another companion, who also died, when it hit a truck near the Texas town.

He was taken to a hospital following the mishap and died early yesterday morning. The body is being flown to his home in Charleroi today.

Lt. Humphries was a member of the Presbyterian Church; Charleroi Lodge, AF and AM and Beta Theta Pi fraternity at Penn State College where he graduated.

Prior to joining the Air Force he attended Admiral Billard Academy, New London, Conn.

Surviving, besides his parents, and widow are a brother, Dent Humphries, a sister, Miss Faye Humphries, at home; a brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Richberg, College Park.

Three Hurt In Accidents In Tucker Co.

Bride, Maryland Couple In Hospital

Three persons were hospitalized in Parsons, W. Va., yesterday as a result of two separate accidents.

Mrs. Georgia Long Barr, a bride of three weeks, sustained head injuries when a car knocked down a steel pole in front of Lambert's Store on Main Street in Parsons.

Mrs. Barr, wife of Kenneth Barr of Parsons, was admitted to Tucker County Hospital for treatment and observation, but her injuries and condition were not known late last night.

Sheriff D. E. Crosten said the automobile was driven by Mrs. Virginia Nestor Evans, Leadmine, Mrs. Barr, who was walking past the store at the time, was the only person hurt. No charges were filed against Mrs. Evans, pending investigation.

In another accident, a Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Watring of Maryland were admitted to the same hospital after their car collided with another vehicle on U. S. Route 219 at Skyland.

Sheriff Crosten said the driver of the other car, Paul Shahan of Terra Alta, W. Va., said fog obscured the highway and the Watrings' oncoming car on a sharp curve.

Crosten said Shahan's car crossed into the wrong lane and struck the Watring vehicle headon. Mrs. Watring reportedly was thrown partly through the windshield.

Shahan suffered the loss of four front teeth and facial injuries, but the extent of the Watrings' injuries was not known last night. Crosten withheld charges pending investigation.

Two Are Hurt In Auto Mishaps

Two persons, including a nine-year-old boy, were injured yesterday in area traffic accidents.

Wilbur Beitzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Beitzel, RD Grantsville, was taken to Miners Hospital in Frostburg for treatment of lacerations and other injuries. X-rays were taken.

Attaches said the boy was struck by an automobile on Route 40 near his home. Driver of the vehicle was not identified pending further investigation.

Ralph Johnson, 27, of 28 Park Avenue, Frostburg, suffered a badly lacerated right arm yesterday morning when his motorcycle collided with an automobile on Braddock Road. Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital for observation, his condition was reported "good." Investigation by State Police is incomplete.

Another motorist, Donald A. Smith, RD 4, city, sustained minor ear and mouth injuries last Saturday night in a two-car crash on Virginia Avenue. He was charged with reckless driving after his auto rammed against an empty parked machine.

Police said Smith hit the car of Orland J. Harbell, 419 Winner Street, causing about $100 damage to the vehicles. Riding with Smith was his wife who escaped injury.

Births

Memorial Hospital Mr. and Mrs. Allan L. Bosley, 210 Main Street, Ridgeley, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Shanholz, Springfield, W. Va., a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Holt, 106 1/2 Allegany Street, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Laing, RD 5, city, a son yesterday.

Men Ask Appointments By Department Heads

Police, Fire Plan Would Strip Power From Mayor And Council

Stripping from the Mayor and Council the power to make promotions under the rank of heads of city departments was proposed last night by the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association.

The suggestion was one of seven made by the Association to the Cumberland Civil Service Board, which has asked all departments for suggestions for revision of local Civil Service laws.

The plan was presented by Thomas N. Berry, attorney and five members of the departments before a full board, headed by Mrs. Leah Hafer, with City Attorney Thomas B. Finan sitting in.

The suggestions made by the Association were:

It would be advantageous to keep the law on the Police and Fire Departments separate from that of the Classified Service.

The new law should be drafted to cover three main sections: establishment of the Civil Service Commission; the Classified City Service, and the Police and Fire Departments.

Section 36, sub section (a) should include the classification of detectives.

Section 37 (a) should be revised to provide that members of the commission shall serve one term of six years and would automatically be disqualified for reappointment for at least two years.

All promotions within the Police and Fire Departments should be based on the results of written and oral examinations 20 per cent; conduct and performance in office as reflected by personnel records of the Civil Service Board, 20 per cent; 40 per cent credit for seniority and 20 per cent for recommendations of the head of the department.

The eligible list so prepared should contain not more than three names and the professional head of the department would be required to take the top man on the list unless he has a good reason for not doing so, which would have to be disclosed to the Civil Service Commission, which in its discretion might then permit him to take the next lower man.

At present, the Maryland appearances are listed only as whistle-stops to be followed the same day by talks in Wilmington, Del., and Brooklyn, N. Y.

Stevenson appeared only in Baltimore on his original invasion of Maryland Sept. 23. He spoke to 8,500 at the Fifth Regiment Armory and to a breakfast gathering of party workers.

His opponent, Dwight D. Eisenhower, came in two days later and made appearances at Cumberland, Martinsburg and Silver Spring before making a major speech in Baltimore. Last week, his running mate, Sen. Nixon, followed up with talks at Salisbury, Annapolis, Dundalk, Aberdeen and Elkton.

No Maryland appearance is scheduled for the Democratic vice presidential nominee, Sen. Sparkman. However, the party has scheduled a speech for Sen. Kefauver D-Tenn in either Towson or Baltimore on October 25.

368 Servicemen Already Assured Of Nov. Ballot

Many Residents Seek Absent Vote

At least 368 Allegany County residents who are serving in the armed forces already have made provisions to assure themselves of a vote in the November 4 general election.

Attaches at the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors office in the Court House basement reported yesterday that they already have received applications for absentee ballots from 351 servicemen and women. These applications first are sent to Secretary of State John R. Reeves by the applicants and then are referred to the election board here.

Ballots are mailed out from the county office at the Court House. The applications must be received by the board at least five days before the November 4 election.

Besides these absentee ballots some 17 other servicemen and women who have been home on leave have gone to the office of the County Board of Election Supervisors and already have cast their ballots. State law provides that any serviceman or woman home on leave within 50 days before a general election may go to board office and cast a ballot in the presence of a member of the Board of Election Supervisors. These ballots are placed in sealed envelopes and are not opened until the official canvass after the election.

Applications for absentee ballots may be obtained by a relative of any serviceman or woman at the Board of Election Supervisors office in the Court House basement, at Nelson Russler's place of business, 432 Virginia Avenue, at the office of James Park in Lonaconing, at the office of Frostburg City Clerk Alex G. Close and at the Sanitary Market on Main Street in Westernport.

Atomic Plant May Get Power From PE System

15 Companies Plan To Join Project

The Potomac Edison system is included in a 15-company group of electric utilities scheduled to supply power for the new gaseous diffusion atomic energy plant in Pike County, Ohio, a few miles north of Portsmouth.

If tentative plans are carried out a corporation, probably to be named the Ohio Valley Power Corporation, will be formed by the 15-company group. Authorities say the single block of power would be the greatest to be supplied by any company or group of companies in the electric power industry's history.

The combination has offered to build two new generating plants, costing $400 million, to supply 2,200,000 kilowatts. Of this, 1,800,000 kilowatts would be used directly by the diffusion process. The rest will be a reserve for maintenance and emergency loss of facilities and transmission losses.

Tentative plans for the plant near Portsmouth are to install four 200,000-kilowatt steam turbo-generators, the largest of their kind. Estimated cost is $120 million. A second plant, costing $280 million and producing 1,400,000 kilowatts of power, might be located in southeastern Indiana, near Ohio and Kentucky borders.

Together, the two power plant installations would use about seven-and-one-half million tons of coal to generate about 15 billion kilowatt-hours of energy annually, which is approximately the amount of electricity consumed in one year by Greater New York City.

Participating in the proposal, which awaits AEC acceptance, are Potomac Edison's sister companies in the West Penn Electric system, Monongahela Power of Fairmont, W. Va., and West Penn Power of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Others are the Appalachian Electric Power, Cincinnati Gas and Electric, Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric, Dayton Power and Light, Indiana and Michigan Electric, Kentucky Utilities, Louisville Gas and Electric, Ohio Edison, Ohio Power, Pennsylvania Power of New Castle, Pa., Southern Indiana Gas and Electric and Toledo Edison Companies.

Frostburg Industrial Fund Reaches $60,000

Mayor, Council Plan To Advertise City

Solicitors for the Frostburg Industrial Promotion Corporation have reached the $60,000 mark in their effort to collect $80,000 from area businessmen to build a new building for the city's leading industry.

The report was released last night by David R. Willets, secretary for the industrial group.

At the same time, Charles F. Hill, chairman of the corporation, appeared before a meeting of the Frostburg Mayor and City Council with a plan for obtaining a new industry for the city.

Armed with a newspaper clipping from a Richmond, Va., newspaper, Hill told members of the City Council that other cities in the United States were turning down new industries while Frostburg is in dire need of new employment possibilities.

Hill showed the newspaper clipping to the Council and explained the story of how the Fredericksburg, Va., Chamber of Commerce turned down a small plant, planning to move there from Brooklyn, N. Y., because of the Virginia city's shortage of labor.

Hill pointed out that if Frostburg could advertise its facilities and surplus of labor, such plants would consider locating here.

The Mayor and Council went on record as approving the plan for advertising Frostburg as a location for industries, and will work out the cost problem of the project with the City Clerk. Since Frostburg has no Chamber of Commerce, cost of such projects must be handled by the City Council.

In addition, Hill said, the Mayor and Council will write to the Fredericksburg Chamber of Commerce for additional information concerning the Brooklyn firm.

Hill said the $60,000 collected to date for construction of a building to house the Berkowitz Pajama Company, includes pledges from workers at the factory.

The Mayor and Council last night appealed to residents of Frostburg to do their best in helping raise the remaining $20,000 needed. The money, which will be used to build a 40,000-square-foot building for the factory, will be matched by a government RFC loan of $80,000.

Hill said the success of the fund drive involves employment for 350 people.

State Educator Visits County

Mrs. Grace A. Dorsey, assistant state superintendent of public schools in charge of elementary education, arrived in Cumberland for a three-day tour of Allegany County schools.

Superintendent Ralph R. Webster said that the three county elementary school supervisors, Miss Jane Botsford, Miss Winifred Greene and Miss Mildred Willison, have arranged a schedule for Mrs. Dorsey. While here, Mrs. Dorsey will be the principal speaker at a dinner meeting of the local group of American Childhood Education International. This will be held at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday at Frostburg State Teachers College. The new elementary teachers in the county school system will be guests at the meeting.

Nearby W. Va. Communities Get Exposition Invitations

Miss Lorraine Sager, queen-designate for the Greater Cumberland Industrial Exposition, yesterday made a good-will tour of four nearby West Virginia communities to invite people to come to the Exposition next week.

The tour included stops at Ridgeley, Paw Paw, Fort Ashby and Keyser, W. Va., where Miss Sager was a guest at a dinner-meeting of the Keyser-Mineral County Chamber of Commerce.

At Ridgeley, Miss Sager presented an engraved invitation to the exposition to Mayor Frank B. Magruder. Mayor Magruder assured Miss Sager and members of her party that he will attend the Cumberland event and will spread the word among his townspersons.

Presented Apples At Paw Paw, Mayor James Frederick Fredman thanked Miss Sager for the invitation, and then in turn presented her with a box of apples grown and packed by Consolidated Orchard Company at Paw Paw.

Miss Sager also met Miss Jo Ann Gordon of Paw Paw, who will be one of her attendants in the Exposition Parade next Friday, after Miss Sager is crowned Industrial Queen. She also was interviewed by the Misses Carole Moser and Barbara Gordon, members of the staff of The Pirate Boomerang, Paw Paw High School student newspaper.

Mrs. Margaret Larkin, operator of the Lark Inn, invited the Cumberlanders to dinner at the Inn, but the local group was unable to accept because of previous commitments at Keyser.

At Fort Ashby, Miss Sager presented an invitation to Odell Pyles, president of the volunteer fire company and a former justice of the peace. Pyles introduced the local speaker to Mrs. Pyles and their two sons, Glen and Gary, and said the Fort Ashby firemen will take part in the Exposition Parade.

The Keyser-Mineral County Chamber of Commerce welcomed Miss Sager and her party at a

Lineman Falls Under Truck On Power Line Job

A power company worker was seriously injured yesterday when he fell beneath the wheels of a work truck near New Germany.

He was identified as Charles Simmons, 26, of Hambleton, W. Va., and was still unconscious late last night at Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland, where he was admitted with serious head injuries.

Doctors, who termed Simmons' condition "serious," said they understood he fell from a crew truck and was dragged for some distance before the truck ran over him.

Simmons recently returned to work after fracturing his neck in a fall while at work last winter. He is a lineman for the Penn Lines Service.

21 Turkeys Killed On Opening Day Of New Season

At least 3,000 hunters were believed to have swarmed into the woods in Allegany County yesterday as the squirrel and wild turkey seasons opened.

More than 2,000 were reported hunting over Green Ridge State Forest and probably another 1,000 were hunting elsewhere in the county.

Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke said it was the largest number of hunters he has noticed in many years for an opening day. He attributed the increase to the addition of wild turkey to the usual squirrel season.

At least 33 hunters from Baltimore City were among the Green Ridge hunters and a surprisingly large number of nimrods from the other end of the state were on hand to try Western Maryland hunting opportunities, Minke said.

Yesterday there were 21 turkeys reported killed with most of them young birds. Squirrel kills were not so heavy and only a few hunters came out of the woods early this morning with their limit of six of the bushy-tailed game.

Minke said he thought other turkeys were killed yesterday and will be reported later. State law allows hunters until October 31, the end of the squirrel and turkey seasons. He expressed a belief that squirrels are scarce because the hickory nut crop is only 25 per cent of normal.

The warden added that only a few cases of hunters with illegal licenses were discovered yesterday. Residents of the District of Columbia and West Virginia were found with Maryland resident licenses.

dinner in the Grace Methodist Church dining room at Keyser. George E. Barger, operator of the Barger Buick Agency in Keyser, was toastmaster.

Miles G. Thompson, a member of the Exposition committee, introduced the Cumberlanders and thanked the Chamber for its hospitality.

In introducing Miss Sager, Thompson said the people of Cumberland and the Tri-State area "owe her a debt of gratitude we can never repay" for her work toward publicizing the Exposition.

Weather Dark clouds hovering over the Queen City yesterday finally brought a downpour of rain about 8 p. m. lasting for over an hour. Mercury took a drop yesterday with Constitution Park weather station reporting high temperature as 71. Low was 45 degrees and at 8:45 p. m. thermometers leveled at 49. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 67.5 per cent and rainfall shortly before 9 o'clock last night was .20 of an inch. The weatherman says today will be mostly cloudy and cooler with a chance of more rain.

12 Precincts Now Added In County

90 Polling Places To Be Open Nov. 4

Creation of 12 new precincts has boosted to 90 the number of polling places in Allegany County for the November 4 general election, William A. Wilson, chairman of the County Board of Election Supervisors, reported yesterday.

These new precincts have been formed because the number of registered voters in some precincts has become excessively large. Of the new precincts three are in Cumberland, two in LaVale and one each in Bowling Green, Cresaptown, Westernport, Barton, Frostburg, Mt. Savage and Eckhart.

Republican chief judges for all 12 of the new precincts have been named, Wilson said.

They include Charles G. Smith, 631 Hilltop Drive, for Precinct 4-4, K-Z, at Johnson Heights School; Bessie Baird, 324 Cumberland Street, for 6-2, S-Z, SS. Peter and Paul's Hall; Ivy B. Jones, 699 Gehart Drive, for 6-5, K-Z, Mt. Royal School; Winifred von Kaske, for 3-6, K-Z, Bowling Green Fire Station; Joseph Wenrich, for 7, K-Z, Cresaptown School, and J. William Beck, for 8-1, S-Z, Westernport Fire Hall.

Alson, Forrest Mowbray, for 9, K-Z, Barton Fire Hall; Guy F. Mallow, 68 Hill Street, Frostburg, for 12, K-Z, Hill Street School, Frostburg; Samuel Frankenberg, for 13-1, K-Z, Mt. Savage Community Hall; J. Arthur Weisenborn, for 24, K-Z, Eckhart School; Russell Wagner, for 29-1, K-Z, LaVale Fire Hall, and Mildred Young for 29-2, K-Z, Crystal Park, LaVale.

Wilson said that the chief judges will be sworn in and will receive instructions for the impending election at a meeting at the Court House at 7 p. m. Monday, October 13.

29 Testify As Grand Jurors Begin Functions

Judge Harris Presents Charge

After hearing testimony from 29 witnesses, the grand jury for the October term of Allegany County Circuit Court was excused at 3:15 p. m. yesterday until 9:15 a. m. today when the second day of deliberations into county crime will begin.

Before beginning their investigative work, the 23 grand jurors convened in the court room at 10 a. m. yesterday to hear Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris charge them that they have a "double duty."

"One, a duty to society to see that parties against whom there is just ground to charge the commission of a crime shall be held to answer the charge; and on the other hand, a duty to the citizens to see that he is not subjected to prosecution upon accusations having no better foundation than public clamor or private malice."

Free From Prejudice "You should be free from prejudice," he continued. "A grand jury whose members have preconceived notions or complexes on any given subject can become a public nuisance. In other words be normal; keep your feet on the ground and you will function properly. A good rule to follow is to indict, dismiss, or hold your peace."

"You are not a scolding body. You either have sufficient evidence to indict or you do not. If you do not, you cannot bring in a report exposing an individual or individuals to public opprobrium. In other words, it is not your duty to undertake to regulate, control, or investigate the private affairs or lives or morals of the people of this county unless you have reason to believe their conduct constitutes a violation of the laws of the state."

Following the grand jury charge the docket for the October term of court was called. The grand jurors went into session and court attaches said they would probably meet for the next three days.

Headed By Steiner The grand jury is headed by George K. Steiner, general manager of the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company.

Other members are Edward Haebe, Oliver Bosley, Oscar Gurley, James M. E. Kelley, Melvin Knight, Glenn K. Davis, Angus L. Brown, Jesse C. Garvin, George S. Kotschreuther, Willard A. Adams, L. Roy Kimes and Keith T. Sisk, all of Cumberland.

James Richmond, Lonaconing; Marshall Nelson, John L. Richmond and W. Kenneth Crowe, Frostburg; Colin Graham, Mt. Savage; Harry W. Martz, Ellerslie; Harry W. Seaber and Melvin Knight, Westernport; James Walker, LaVale; Charles F. Eckhart, Eckhart, and William A. Wilson, Midland.

The petit jurors will report for duty October 20 at 9:15 a. m.

City Tax Collections Exceed $280,000

Collections of 1952-53 taxes are already past the quarter million dollar mark.

During six collection days in September, the City Tax Office took in $200,660.60 in taxes, including $198,980.00 of 1952 taxes. Another $85,000 of 1952 taxes was collected last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for a total of $283,960.00.

September collections, according to a report from City Collector George E. Davis, totaled $245,399.23.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Shanholz, Springfield, W. Va., a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Holt, 106 1/2 Allegany Street, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Laing, RD 5, city, a son yesterday.

Lt. Humphries Dies Of Injuries In Auto Mishap

Air Force Officer One Of Two Killed

Lt. Malcolm Harold Humphries, 22, husband of the former Miss Eleanor Lee Tolson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Howard Lee Tolson, 885 Braddock Road, was one of two persons who died following an auto-truck collision Saturday night near Sealy Tex.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Robert Humphries, who reside in Charleroi, Pa. Lt. Humphries and Miss Tolson were married here in the First Presbyterian Church on December 22, 1949. They had no children.

Lt. Humphries, who is a member of the United States Air Force, was reportedly driving an automobile with another companion, who also died, when it hit a truck near the Texas town.

He was taken to a hospital following the mishap and died early yesterday morning. The body is being flown to his home in Charleroi today.

Lt. Humphries was a member of the Presbyterian Church; Charleroi Lodge, AF and AM and Beta Theta Pi fraternity at Penn State College where he graduated.

Prior to joining the Air Force he attended Admiral Billard Academy, New London, Conn.

Surviving, besides his parents, and widow are a brother, Dent Humphries, a sister, Miss Payer Humphries, at home; a brother-in-law and sister Mrs. and Mrs. Gilbert Richberg, College Park.

Three Hurt In Accidents In Tucker Co.

Bride, Maryland Couple In Hospital

Three persons were hospitalized in Parsons, W. Va., yesterday as a result of two separate accidents.

Mrs. Georgia Long Barr, a bride of three weeks, sustained head injuries when a car knocked down a steel pole in front of Lambert's Store on Main Street in Parsons.

Mrs. Barr, wife of Kenneth Barr of Parsons, was admitted to Tucker County Hospital for treatment and observation, but her injuries and condition were not known late last night.

Sheriff D. E. Crosten said the automobile was driven by Mrs. Virginia Nestor Evans, Leadmine. Mrs. Barr, who was walking past the store at the time, was the only person hurt. No charges were filed against Mrs. Evans, pending investigation.

In another accident, a Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Watring of Maryland were admitted to the same hospital after their car collided with another vehicle on U. S. Route 219 at Skyland.

Sheriff Crosten said the driver of the other car, Paul Shahan of Terra Alta, W. Va., said fog obscured the highway and the Watrings' oncoming car on a sharp curve.

Crosten said Shahan's car crossed into the wrong lane and struck the Watring vehicle head on. Mrs. Watring reportedly was thrown partly through the windshield.

Shahan suffered the loss of four front teeth and facial injuries, but the extent of the Watrings' injuries was not known last night. Crosten withheld charges pending investigation.

Two Are Hurt In Auto Mishaps

Two persons, including a nine-year-old boy, were injured yesterday in area traffic accidents.

Wilbur Beitzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Beitzel, RD Grantsville, was taken to Miners Hospital in Frostburg for treatment of lacerations and other injuries. X-rays were taken.

Attaches said the boy was struck by an automobile on Route 40 near his home. Driver of the vehicle was not identified pending further investigation.

Ralph Johnson, 27, of 28 Park Avenue, Frostburg, suffered a badly lacerated right arm yesterday morning when his motorcycle collided with an automobile on Braddock Road. Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital for observation, his condition was reported "good." Investigation by State Police is incomplete.

Another motorist, Donald A. Smith, RD 4, city, sustained minor ear and mouth injuries last Saturday night in a two-car crash on Virginia Avenue. He was charged with reckless driving after his auto rammed against an empty parked machine.

Police said Smith hit the car of Orland J. Harbell, 419 Winner Street, causing about $100 damage to the vehicle. Riding with Smith was his wife who escaped injury.

Men Ask Appointments By Department Heads

Police, Fire Plan Would Strip Power From Mayor And Council

Stripping from the Mayor and Council the power to make promotions under the rank of heads of city departments was proposed last night by the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association.

The suggestion was one of seven made by the Association to the Cumberland Civil Service Board, which has asked all departments for suggestions for revision of local Civil Service laws.

The plan was presented by Thomas N. Berry, attorney and five members of the departments before a full board, headed by Mrs. Leah Hafer, with City Attorney Thomas B. Finan sitting in.

The suggestions made by the Association were:

It would be advantageous to keep the law on the Police and Fire Departments separate from that of the Classified Service.

The new law should be drafted to cover three main sections: establishment of the Civil Service Commission; the Classified City Service, and the Police and Fire Departments.

20% For Test Section 36, sub section (a) should include the classification of detectives.

Section 37 (a) should be revised to provide that members of the commission shall serve one term of six years and would automatically be disqualified for reappointment for at least two years.

All promotions within the Police and Fire Departments should be based on the results of written and oral examinations 20 per cent; conduct and performance in office as reflected by personnel records of the Civil Service Board, 20 per cent; 40 per cent credit for seniority and 20 per cent for recommendations of the head of the department.

The eligible list so prepared should contain not more than three names and the professional head of the department would be required to take the top man on the list unless he has a good reason for not doing so, which would have to be disclosed to the Civil Service Commission, which in its discretion might then permit him to take the next lower man.

Would Lose Power Members of the council should have no choice whatsoever in passing upon promotions up to the rank of Chief of Department.

Men temporarily performing the duties of a higher classification should receive pay for the higher classification, except for periods of less than one day.

The present provisions, on the last page of the proposed law, concerning holders of established positions, should be amended to permit the man to return to his next lower rank previously held, or be permitted to bid in a position of similar rank, duties or responsibility, on a basis of seniority.

Thomas Native Fatally Hurt In Highway Mishap

A native of Dundalk, Md., who resided at Dundalk, Md. for the past 27 years, was killed in an auto accident Saturday morning when his car hit a bridge abutment near Baltimore.

Details of the accident were not known last night. Hayes Walter Helmick, 45, the victim was born January 8, 1907, and was a son of Walter G. and Mary Belle (Shaffer) Helmick.

Mr. Helmick was an employee of the Bethlehem Steel Corp. at Dundalk for the past 27 years and was a member of Patapsco Lodge 108 AF and AM of Dundalk. A brother, a member of the Volunteer Fire Company of Thomas, died suddenly during July of this year following a brief illness.

Surviving are his parents; his widow, the former Miss Geneva (Troud) Helmick; two daughters, Mrs. Norma Lee Pappagallo, Dundalk; Miss Ethel Lynn Helmick, at home; three brothers, Herbert Helmick, Thomas; Eugene A. Helmick, District Heights, Md.; Roy Eugene Helmick, at home.

Six sisters, Mrs. Jesse Marshall, Baltimore; Mrs. Flo Dove, Clarksburg, W. Va.; Mrs. Nellie Bunnell, Morgantown, W. Va.; Mrs. Henry Clelland, Racine, Ohio; and Mrs. Romaine Stanton, Cherry Point, N. C.

The body is at the Duncan Funeral Home in Thomas where a service will be conducted today at 2 p. m. with Rev. R. W. Morrow Jr., Methodist minister officiating. Interment will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Thomas Lodge 123, AF and AM, will conduct a Masonic rite at the grave side.

Attend Meeting Police Commissioner John J. Long and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson represented the City of Cumberland at a meeting of the Maryland Municipal League Saturday morning. They attended the University of Maryland-Clemson College game in the afternoon.

VFW Meets Tonight A meeting of Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be held today at 7:30 p. m. in the post home. All members are urged to attend.

Manges To Give Talk Guest speaker of the Cumberland Lions Club luncheon meeting tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. in Central YMCA will be Atty. Earl E. Manges. His subject will be "The Constitution and the Bill Of Rights."
